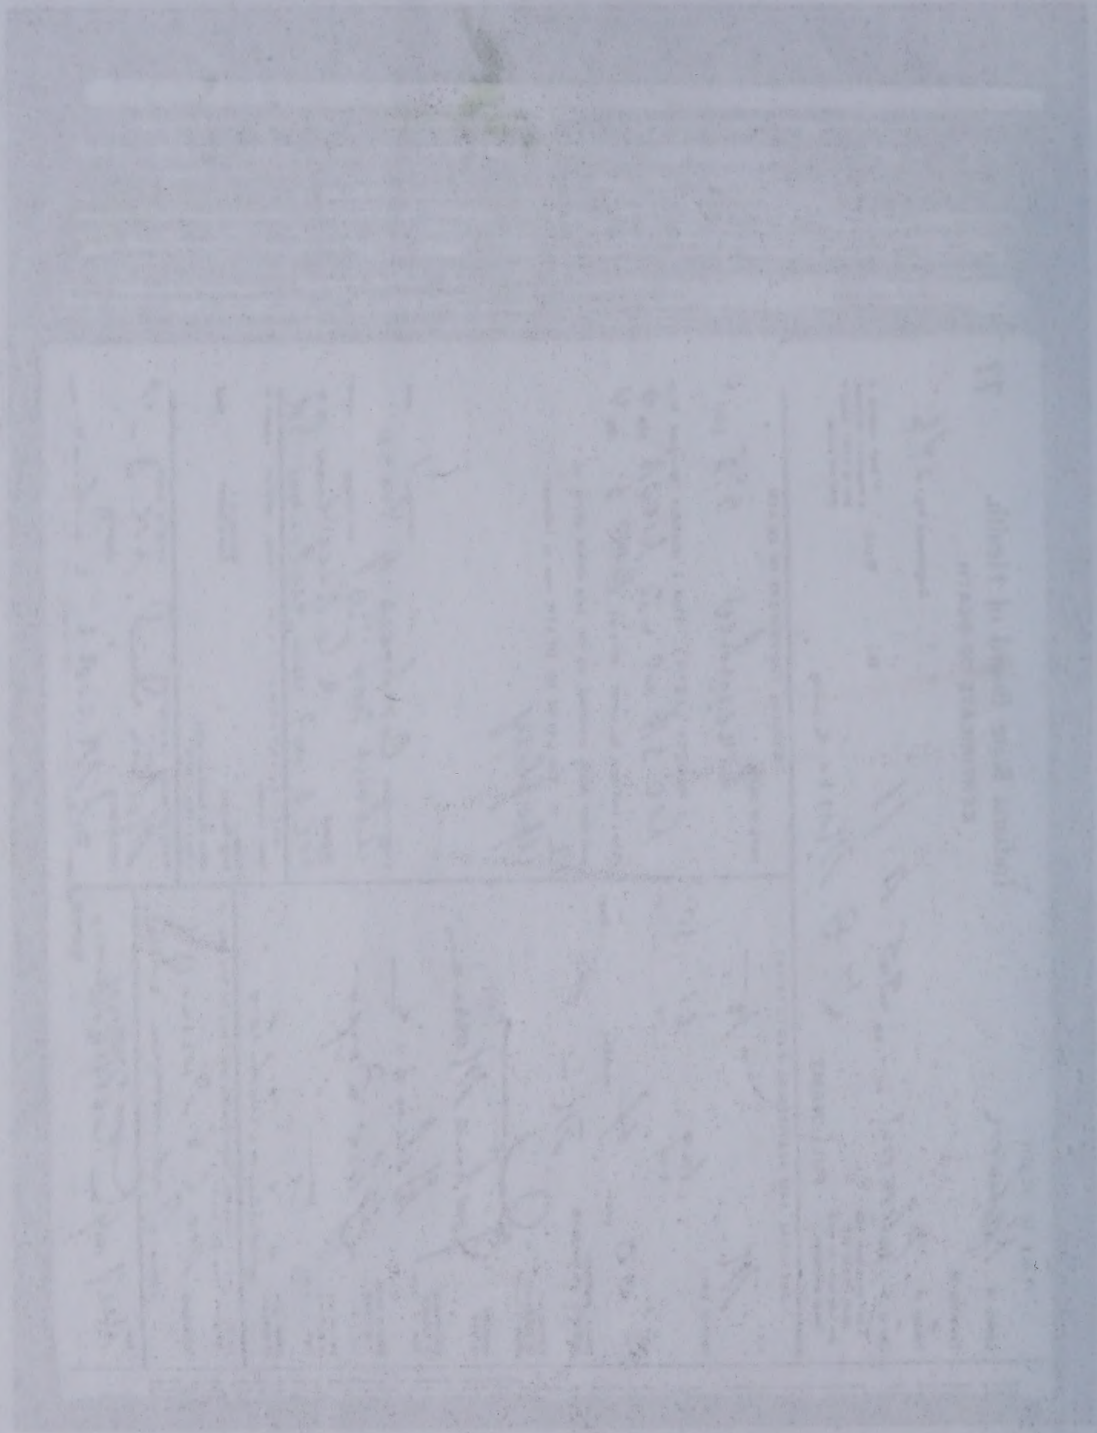
Undertaker J. Mark - Pendleton

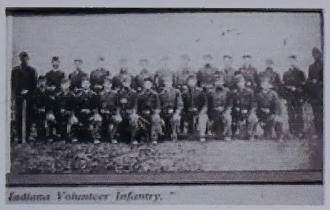


The consecutive numbering of our regiments dates from the Mexican War. The first five were in that war, and consequently the Sixth was the first Indiana Regiment to go into the Civil War. The six regiments above mentioned, constituting the first Indiana Quota, were commanded as follows:

Sixty, Col. Thomas T. Crittenden; Seventh, Col. Ebenezer Dumont; Eighth, Col. William P. Benton; Ninth, Col. Robert H. Milroy; Tenth, Col. Joseph J. Reynolds; Eleventh, Col. Lewis Wallace.

These regiments made up the First Brigade of the Indiana Volunteers, with Thomas A. Morris as Brigadier General. By the 27th of April they were fully organized and after being well armed and equipped they went under General McClellan's command in western Virginia. That they acquitted themselves well is testified by a communication from General McClellan to Governor Morton when they returned from their three months' service. "I have," he wrote, "directed the three-months' regiments from Indiana to move to Indianapolis, there to be mustered out and reorganized for three years' service. I can not permit them to return to you without again expressing my high appreciation of the distinguished valor and endurance of the Indiana troops, and my hope that but a short time will elapse before I have the pleasure of knowing that they are again ready for the field."

The First Brigade was at once reorganized for the three-years' service



Indiana Volunteer Infantry.

For more than a quarter of a century they have maintained a Sunday school during the summer months.

The Asbury M. E. Church was organized about 1832, by Joseph Barnes and Elias Hollingsworth, in the south end of this township, on the edge of Union Township. On the 16th of August, 1833, Elias Hollingsworth, Samuel Sprinkle and Joseph Barnes were constituted a Board of Trustees, with the view of building a house of worship, and, on the 28th of December following, Joseph Barnes and wife deeded to the said Trustees one and a half acres of land on Section 28, on what is now known as the John Nelson farm, and soon afterward they built a small log church, and continued for many years to hold their meeting in it. Elias Hollingsworth was a local preacher in the church, and did good service in attending funerals, performing marriage ceremonies, etc. In 1870, while Rev. William Jordan had charge of the church, a meeting-house was built by the society on the bank of Killbuck, about eighty rods west of the old site. This house is 34x46 feet, and cost about $1,500. Dedicated September 13, 1870, by Rev. Dr. Bowman. Present membership is about twenty-five. Among the very early members may be mentioned the names of Samuel Spinkle, Joseph Barnes, Elias Hollingsworth, David Tappin and wife, and Daniel Goodykoontz and wife. The present Pastor is Rev. J. H. Jackson. This church has a flourishing Sunday school.

The Chambers' Christian Church was organized about 1854 with seven members, as follows: Hiram Chambers and wife, John Chambers and wife, Susan Chambers, Nancy Scott and Mary Chambers. Hiram Chambers deeded the society a tract of ground on Section 27, and, in 1869, they built a house on it 34x40 feet, that cost them near $1,500. For several years, this church

About 1835, Matthew Penmore built a [illegible] on Killbuck, near southwest corner of the township, and, soon thereafter, William Curtis James Barnes built a grist-mill near by it. They both used the same d but divided the water between them.

The grist-mill afterward fell into the hands of R. Adams, and, about 1 was turned into a woolen-mill, but at this time they have all gone down, ex some of the frame timbers.

At an early day, Benjamin Walker built a saw-mill on Killbuck, on tion 28, and, in 1840, attached a carding machine to it, which he operate a few years.

Soon after this, John B. Purcell built, near the same site, a small w factory, and, after operating it a few years, sold out to Stephen Broadbent. has continued the business ever since.

MOONVILLE.

About 1839, Messrs. Williams & Adams opened a small country sto the land of Zimri Moon, on Section 15, where Joseph Hancock now This store was afterward run by Trimble & Swaar, Trimble & Moore lastly, by Samuel & Joseph Pence, who discontinued it about 1860.

Soon after the store was started, Hiram Stanton set up a blacksmith-s and Mr. Moon a hotel. There was also a post office here called "Moonv

There was never any town plat laid out, and at this time all trace of ness has disappeared.

William Curtis, above mentioned, was the first physician in the tow and Isaac Jones was the first Justice of the Peace.

STONY CREEK TOWNSHIP.

THE above township was formerly a part of Jackson Township, but was organized into a separate civil township, and named Stony Creek after the principal creek that flows through it. It is situated in the western part of the county, adjoining Hamilton County, and contains twenty-eight square miles. The soil of this township is rich. The eastern and southeastern parts are very level, while the west and north parts are more broken, and susceptible of easy drainage.

Stony Creek is a beautiful little stream, flowing across the northwest part of the township and into Hamilton County. Sand Creek, in the south part, is made up principally of neighborhood ditches, and passes out into Green Township.

Notwithstanding the fifty-one years of continuous chopping, there is a large quantity of good timber still standing, such as oak, ash, elm, beech, poplar, etc., the worth of which is now beginning to be realized by its owners.

EARLY SETTLEMENT.

In 1823, several families settled on Stony Creek, near the present site of Fishersburg, among whom were Benjamin Fisher, — Busby, D. E. Studley, John Anderson, George Reddick and H. Studley. In April, 1828, Henry Shetterly and Benoni Freel, both from Ohio, settled near the banks of the creek, the former on what has since been known as the Hoffman farm, on Section 28, and the latter on Section 21, near the present residence of David Conrad. Here Mr. F. built a small log cabin, which was the first house erected in the township. Mr. Freel was the step-father of Charles Fisher, Esq., who was at that time a lad of some eleven summers, and who still has very vivid recollections of many exciting scenes in early pioneer life.

John Fisher, from Clermont County, Ohio, came in during the year 1831, and settled on the Charles Fisher farm, that lies between the present sites of Fishersburg and Lapell.

In June, 1823, John Anderson, from Hamilton County, Ohio, settled on he west bank of Stony Creek, about a half a mile above Fishersburg. Here he lived but a few years, when he moved just across the line into Ha County, where he still resides.

About 1835, James and Jesse Gwinn, from Virginia, moved in and s on Section 23, where James still lives.

In 1836, W. A. Aldred settled in the neighborhood.

In 1837, Thomas Busby, from Virginia, after spending a few years i Creek Township, came in and settled on Section 22, where his son S still resides. About this time, Arbuckle Nelson settled the Bodenhorn on Section 35.

In 1837, D. E. Studley and John McDole, from Ohio, settled on the now occupied in part by the village of Lapell.

When Messrs. Shetterly and Freel settled, they at once began to cl farms, so that the Hoffman and Conrad farms were the first opened i township.

The First Road.—Early in the year 1832, a road was laid from S town, in Hamilton County, to Pendleton, in Madison County, and by fa been made passable most of the distance for teams. Mr. Charles claims to have been the first person to drive a team and wagon over the The Pendleton & Fishersburg pike now occupies the same route.

EARLY EVENTS.

The First Marriage.—On the 8th day of July, 1834, Samuel She and Jane Freel were united in marriage by Ancil Beach, Deacon of the Church, at the residence of the bride's father, Benoni Freel. In due p of time, a daughter was born unto them, and christened Sarah Jane.

The above important events are said to have been the first of the kin occurred in Stony Creek Township.

The First Death.—George Shetterly died some time about 1830, an buried on the Charles Fisher place.

First School.—The first schoolhouse in the township was built about near Stony Creek, a little south of the Fisherburg tollgate. It was a sm lows: "To obtain suitable rooms;" to "move to Anderson;" "to discontinue." It was, after a heated discussion, finally decided to move to Anderson, and a committee was accordingly appointed to correspond with the Grand Master to obtain his permission, as well as to remove furniture, jewels, etc. June 1, 1845, a decision of the G. M. continued the lodge at Pendleton as heretofore. On the 16th of June, they met in a room in H. B. Franks' building and resumed work, labor having for some time ceased for want of a suitable room.

On February 6, 1846, another resolution was presented to remove to Anderson and unite with the Chesterfield Lodge, which was unanimously adopted, but, on May 8, it was rescinded.

On the 17th of March, 1848, it was agreed that they rent a room of William Silver, which was fitted up, and occupied on May 12. At this meeting, they granted a request of brothers at Anderson, granting them a dispensation to work.

On December 13, 1850–60, a proposition from the I. O. O. F. was accepted to occupy their hall.

The following is a list of members admitted to Madison Lodge since its organization:

ed in Pasquotank County except Little River; this meeting was located on the west side of Little River, in Perquimans County, but had its membership in both counties. The early membership of the monthly meeting included Caleb Bundy, Samuel Bundy, Thomas Cartwright, Edward Chancey, Samuel Charles, Timothy Clare, Mary Clark, James Davis, William Everigin, Mary Glaistor, William Griffin, Joseph Jordan, Henry Keaton, Ann Low, wife of Emanuel Low, Edward Mayo, Timothy Meaids, William Morris, James Newby, Zachariah Nixon, Jacob Overman, Isaac Page, Solomon Pool, Mathew Pritchard, Sarah Pritchard, Joseph Robinson, Thomas Robinson, Augustin Scarbrough, Ostran Scarbrough, Stephen Scott, Ann Symons, Sr., Jeremiah Symons, Sr., Jeremiah and Rebecca Symons, John Symons, Peter Symons, Thomas Symons, Francis Toms, James Tooke, Thomas Tweedy, Arnould White, Henry White, John White, Isaac Wilson, Jesse Wilson.

The monthly meeting changed its chronology from the "Old Style" to the "New Style" after the meeting on 5th of 4th month, 1752, O.S. The minute recording the change reads: "By act of Parliament we are obliged to fall in with the new stile and begin at New Year's day, calling that the first month, namely January, so called." The next succeeding meeting was that of 2nd of 7th month, 1752, N.S.

Suttons Creek Monthly Meeting, set up in Perquimans County in 1794, took over part of the Perquimans membership of Pasquotank (Symons Creek) Monthly Meeting. This arrangement continued until 1835 when Suttons Creek Monthly Meeting was laid down and its entire membership transferred to Symons Creek Monthly Meeting.

The History of the closing years of Symons Creek Monthly Meeting is told by Dr. Weeks (page 261) as follows: "A considerable number had removed to central North Carolina before 1810, and in 1811 the definite migration to the West began. The result was as usual, the particular meeting at the Narrows was laid down in 1839, the one at Newbegun in 1845; in 1846 but fifty-five members were reported at Symons's Creek; in 1854 Little River preparative meeting was laid down, and in the same year, while the preparative meeting and the meeting for worship at Symons's Creek were kept up a little longer, the monthly meeting was laid down and the faithful remnant was joined to Piney Woods."

The birth, death and marriage records of Pasquotank and Symons Creek Monthly Meeting are found in five volumes. Volume I has births and deaths only; volume II has births, deaths and marriages; volume III has marriages only; volume IV has births and deaths only; volume I of women's minutes contains the oldest records of births, deaths and marriages. In the following transcript of the birth and death records, page numbers without volume indication refer to records in volume I; page numbers followed by 2, 4 or W refer to records in volume II, volume IV, and the women's minute book, respectively. The abstract of the marriage records and minutes has been compiled from the books containing marriage records as noted above and from the books of men's minutes, 1698 to 1854 (4 volumes), and the books of women's minutes, 1715 to 1854 (3 volumes)

All the record books of the meeting are in the care of North Carolina Yearly Meeting at Guilford College with the exception of the second volume of men's minutes, 1785 to 1803. This latter book is in the custody of the North Carolina Historical Commission, at Raleigh.

PASQUOTANK MONTHLY MEETING
(later Symons Creek Monthly Meeting)

Pasquotank County, North Carolina

The monthly meeting in Pasquotank was usually referred to as Pasquotank Monthly Meeting in the early records of other monthly meetings. About 1770 the name Symons Creek Monthly Meeting began to be used occasionally, and this usuage increased until, by 1800, the name Pasquotank is rarely found. In its own earliest records the meeting is designated "a monthly meeting held at the house of Henry White" (or Caleb Bundy, etc.) A little later it was "a monthly meeting held in Pasquotank at Symons Creek" (or at Newbegun Creek, or occasionally, at Little River). Toward the end of the eighteenth century it became "Symons Creek Monthly Meeting held in Pasquotank County."

The earliest men's minute book of Pasquotank Monthly Meeting begins with a reference to a monthly meeting held at the house of Henry White the 7th of 5th month, probably in 1698. The recorded minutes date from 1699. During the years 1700 and 1701 monthly meetings were held at the houses of Henry White, Thomas Cartwright and Stephen Scott. At the meeting in 3rd month, 1702, it was agreed that the monthly meeting should be held thereafter at the house of Caleb Bundy, and that the first day meetings should alternate between the house of Stephen Scott and the house of Henry White.

At the monthly meeting held at Caleb Bundy's house in the Precinct of Pasquotank, 1st of 3rd month, 1703, Friends agreed that a meeting house should be built "at Pasquotank with as much speed as can be." Dr. Weeks says in "Southern Quakers and Slavery," page 67: "This is the oldest Quaker meeting house of which we have distinct record, and it places their church edifices among the very oldest in the colony." On the 5th of 2nd month, 1705, the meeting decided to build a meeting house on the plantation of Joseph Jordan, "at the charge of Friends belonging to Pasquotank." At monthly meeting held at the house of Caleb Bundy the 4th of 5th month, 1706, Friends designated Caleb Bundy, Stephen Scott and Henry Keton to choose a proper location and build a meeting house between Caleb Bundy's house and William Brothers' Creek.

In the earliest book of women's minutes the marriage of Timothy Meaids and Ane Blessing is recorded under date of 13th of 4th month, 1677. Witnesses to this marriage included Henry White, John Hunte, Arnould White, William Travis, William Torner, Dorathy Harvy, Mary White, Sary Travis, Francis Hunt, Ruth Torner, Elezabeath Sherad and Elinor Tailler. On the 24th of 4th month, 1679, Sollomon Poole and Margret White were married at the house of Henry White. Witnesses included Henry White, Timothy Meads, Francis Tooms, Charles Prous, Willam Smith, Jonathan Taillor, Arnould White, George Tailer, William Davis, William Bread, Willam Larson, Crestofer Oulldford, Mary White, Sary Davis, Francis Hunte, Rebecca Simons, Ane Maids, Elezabeath Larson and Jeams Hunte. Several other marriages are recorded with dates previous to 1700. One minute refers to a quarterly meeting held the 7th of 4th month, 1690. Monthly meetings are mentioned in 1696. At a quarterly meeting, held 4th of 4th month, 1698, a change in the dates for holding quarterly meetings was agreed upon; it was also agreed that the last seventh day of 7th month in every year should be Yearly Meeting at the house of Francis Toms the Elder. All of these meetings for business and most of the marriages were held at Henry White's house.

Three wills are recorded in the first book of women's minutes. Will of Arnould White, not dated. Executors, his brothers, Henry White and Thomas Symons. Mentions his son Arnould; his brother's daughter, Elizabeth; his brother Henry's children. (Note. Arnould White died 1690,2, 23. Will of Isack Page, dated 1680,4,30. Executors, Charles Prous and Henry White. Witnesses, Dorothy Prouse, Damaris Moris and Elizabeth Page. Mentions his daughter, Damaris, and her children; his daughter, Elizabeth, and provides for her if she marries Samuel Hill. Will of George Tailler, dated 1680,3,19. Witnesses, Henry White and Arnould White. All wordly goods both reall and personall. to wife and children. to be equally divided as they come of age; children to remain with wife if she remains unmared.

The preparative meetings which made up Pasquotank Monthly Meeting included Symons Creek, Newbegun Creek, the Narrows, Little River and Trueblood's. All these appear to have been locat-

CONTENTNEA MONTHLY MEETING
(now Nahunta Monthly Meeting)

Wayne County, North Carolina

Contentnea Monthly Meeting (called Great Contentnea in some of the earlier records) and its successor, Nahunta Monthly Meeting, grew out of the movement toward the interior of Friends who had been settled along the sea-coast of North Carolina. The first settlement in this section, so far as available records show, was on Falling Creek, a small stream flowing into the Neuse about 40 miles above New Bern. The minutes of Eastern Quarterly Meeting, 1745,8,23, contain the following item: "Friends at Falling Creek in Johnson County, upon New [Neuse] River, requested of this meeting to grant them the privilege of a monthly meeting, which request friends think proper to grant till the Yearly Meeting, because of their present necessity; to be either approved or disapproved by the ensuing Yearly Meeting." This action of the Quarterly Meeting was approved by the Yearly Meeting of 1748. Mention is made in the Yearly Meeting minutes of "a constant first day meeting at the house of John Ratcliff at Falling Creek."

Only four pages of the records of Falling Creek Monthly Meeting have been preserved. These pages contain the minutes beginning with the meeting in first month of 1772 and running through to 9th month. In 3rd month Thomas Cox was appointed overseer in the room of John Ratcliff, deceased; John Kennedy was appointed clerk; Isaac Scriven requested the privilege of holding "a meeting at his house during the time of not being able to attend at the proper place on account of his being sickly." At the sitting held in the 5th month it was the judgment of the meeting that "as friends are mostly removed by death or otherwise from the meeting at Lower Falling Creek, that the next ensuing meeting be held at Richard Cox's near Upper Falling Creek and so continue until the advice of the Quarterly Meeting can be known." The monthly meeting appears to have been held at Upper Falling Creek for the three succeeding months, but in the 9th month it was held at Great Contentnea. At this session the following minute of Eastern Quarterly Meeting, held 1772,8,29, at Symons Creek, in Perquimans County, was presented: "It appears by the report of Dobbs County that the meeting at Lower Falling Creek be dropped by reason of friends dying and moving away; and that there are several families of Friends settled at a place called Great Contentney in said county, whereupon their monthly meeting has agreed to the establishing a first day meeting to be held at the house of Arthur Bryant at Great Contentney. Also their monthly meeting to be held at the same place." Writing of this period in the history of the meeting, Dr. Weeks says in "Southern Quakers and Slavery", page 88: "From this time the Falling Creek Monthly Meeting disappears and Great Contentnea takes its place. It was at the time of its organization farther from the sea-coast than any other monthly meeting in North Carolina. It was known later as Contentnea Monthly Meeting. We find among its members in the eighteenth century the following names, Beeman, Overman, Bogue, Hollowell, Cox, Pike, Pearson, Hall, Mayo, Wooten, Edgerton, Arnold, Copeland, Bundy, Morris, Doudna and Outland. From these names we are led to infer that connection with the meetings in Carteret County to the east and Northampton County on the north was close."

The monthly meeting appears to have been held continuously at Contentnea until 1851. From 1851 to 1856 it was held alternately at Contentnea and Nahunta. Beginning about the latter year all sessions were held at Nahunta and the name was changed to Nahunta Monthly Meeting.

Falling Creek Meeting was probably located near the present town of Kingston, in Lenoir County. Contentnea Meeting was located in Wayne County, 15 miles north of Goldsboro. Nahunta is located 12 miles northwest of Goldsboro.

The available records, from which the following abstract has been prepared, consist of: Falling Creek minutes, 1772; Contentnea and Nahunta minutes (men's) 1814-1895; (women's) 1774-1833 and 1852-1882; birth records; death records; and marriage records. In 1884 the old Contentnea birth, death and marriage records, then in possession of T. S. Hollowell, were transcribed into the books in use by Nahunta Monthly Meeting. These older records begin at pages 119,139 and 63, respectively, in the birth, death and marriage record books. On the following pages of birth and death records, the designation (D) following a page number indicates that the item is from the death record book. Items without such designation are from the birth record book.

The earliest Contentnea women's minutes, which begin in 1774, mention Elizabeth Gilbert, Jane Saint, Sarah Kennedy, Mary Cox, Huldah Davis, Elizabeth Bryant, Sarah Edgerton, Hannah Hinds, Christian Musgrave, Lidia Morris, Hannah Overman, Phebe Cox, Elizabeth Parker, Mary Newsom, Sarah Price and Guleemus White as members of the meeting. At the first session of which we have record, 1774,10,8, Sarah Kennedy was appointed clerk; Phebe Cox, Mary Cox, Huldah Davis and Elizabeth Bryant were chosen as overseers. Since the men's minutes prior to 1814 have been lost, there is no record of the names of the men Friends who were members during the early period.

Obituary from memorial page

the following information is from "The Newlin Family: Ancestors and Descendants of John and Mary Pyle Newlin" (1965) by Dr. Algie I. Newlin and Harvey Newlin, page 525:

The only descendants of Nathaniel and Catherine Hadley Newlin, remaining in North Carolina after the great migration from Spring Meeting, was the family of Joseph and Ruth Farlow Newlin. Joseph was Presiding Clerk of Spring Meeting when that body gave permission to the preponderant number of his family to change their residence to Indiana. Around 1930, Oliver Newlin, the 11th in Joseph's family of 13, stated that he had heard since childhood that his father resigned his position in Spring Meeting in 1827 with the intention of moving to Indiana. After visiting Ruth Farlow Newlin's relatives in Randolph County, Ruth's family ties were so strong that they moved to Randolph County instead of migrating to Indiana. This change of mind was significant in that it started an important branch of the Newlin family in that area of North Carolina.

Joseph's home, near what is today Sophia, North Carolina, was located on the famous Plank Road, known as the 'Appian Way,' that extended from Fayetteville, North Carolina to Salem, in the same state. At his home, was the station, or stopping place for the coaches on the Plank Road. He was, for a number of years, the postmaster of New Market, North Carolina. At a later date his daughter, Ruth Emily, held this position and his son, Duncan, was its last postmaster.

In 1890 it was said of New Market: 'This is an old settled place, and was the home of Capt. John Bryant, a Whig, who was shot in his old house by Colonel Fanning. The place afterwards came into the possession of Shubal Gardner, who had a store there and was regarded as a big man. He owned a number of lots in Johnsonville and at one time drove a heard of beeves to Philadelphia.

'Joseph Newlin bought the property in 1840 and called it New Market and for many years carried on an extensive store and tin shop.' (J.T. Blair, "Reminiscences of Randolph County, Asheboro, N.C.," 1890, p. 49)

Joseph Newlin's interest in education is exemplified by his long service on the Board of Trustees of New Garden Boarding School. His term of service began in 1837 and continued until his death, August 20, 1865. During the last 20 years of this term he was the Board's presiding officer, and this included the school's most difficult period, that of the American Civil War. His twenty year term as 'Clerk' of the Board of New garden Boarding School was the longest in the history of the school.

The following is quoted from Dr. Algie I. Newlin's "Friends 'at the Spring:' A History of Spring Monthly Meeting" (1983), pages 68- 69:

The only descendants of Nathaniel and Catherine Hadley Newlin who did not get into the stream of emigrants leaving Spring for the Middle West were Joseph and Ruth Farlow Newlin and at the time their 3 little children. Oliver Newlin, Joseph's 11th child, said that his father resigned from his position as clerk of Spring Monthly Meeting with the intention of moving to Indiana to join his relatives there, but a farewell visit to Ruth's relatives in Randolph County brought a change in their plans; instead of going to Indiana they removed to Randolph County to be near Ruth's relatives. This took place in 1827.

Among the numerous emigres from Spring Meeting Joseph Newlin became one of the most prominent. He bought the New Market Inn, located a few miles south of High Point, operated a tin shop there and for a number of years was postmaster of the New Market post office. He and a partner owned and operated a mercantile business at New Market. He was part owner and secretary of the New Market Foundry. Joseph was a stockholder in, and secretary of, the Union Manufacturing Company, a textile mill at Randleman, North Carolina. He owned stock in the Fayetteville to Salem Plank Road. The New Market Inn was a regular stopping place for the stage coach which operated on the plank road. In addition to all these interests Joseph Newlin was engaged in land speculation on a rather extensive scale. His active interest in the Society of Friends matched his interest in economic activities. In different periods he was clerk of 2 different monthly meetings and his work with the New Garden Boarding School was outstanding. He was named to the board of trustees of New Garden Boarding School in 1837, the 1st year of the operation of the school, and he served on the board for 29 years. He was clerk (chairman) of the board for 21 years. These interests and activities place Joseph Newlin among the more noted emigres from Spring Monthly Meeting.

The following is a reprint of an article dated April 24, 1938 about Joseph Newlin's tavern from "The Randolph Tribune" newspaper of Asheboro, North Carolina:

YE OLD TAVERN, LANDMARK OF PIONEER DAYS, STILL STANDING IN NEW MARKET

A few miles above Randleman on the High Point Road in New Market Township stands one of the earliest landmarks of pioneer days in Randolph County. It is a symbol of the sturdy and cultured type of pioneers who set up well-built homes in a country hitherto uninhabited except by Indians. There is something about this old landmark that seems to shout, "Mine is an interesting story."

Just who built this huge house is uncertain, but the earliest known occupants were Sidney Porter and his wife, Ruth Coffin (Worth) Porter, who later removed to Greensboro. The place became the property of Joseph Newlin, who cultivated the fields which yielded rich harvests. Joseph Newlin was thrifty and a man of enterprising spirit and therefore secured a license to use his large house as a tavern and "House of Entertainment for Travelers," and also for the post office.

Back when the Plank Road became an important artery in the business of the state, travel was fairly heavy, the stage coaches making 3 trips each weeks. The rattle of the coach could be heard long before it came in sight. So that the landlord would know how many passengers were on board, the driver would blow long and short notes on his bugle. Horses were changed when the coach stopped.

Besides the stage passengers there were travelers on foot, on horseback, and in rude carts, wagons, and sulkies; the more well-to-do came in carriages. Goods bought by merchants from the northern markets were hauled from Wilmington and Fayetteville by wagon teams of 6-10 covered wagons. The teamsters usually camped in the wagons to guard the load and the horses and mules. Lots were provided for these animals and also for the droves of hogs which were driven from the mountains to market. Fences had to be built "horse-high and hog -tight."

The landlord's license demanded that "he furnish a field for wagon camps, good, wholesome, clean lodging and diet for travelers, and stabelage, fodder, oats or pasture as the season required." He was also ordered "not to suffer or permit unlawful gaming in the house on the Sabbath day, nor to suffer any man to tipple or drink any more than is necessary, nor to use unseeming language." The landlord was left to judge what quantity of strong drink was necessary.

The guests were to choose from the following menu:

"Good West India rum," one half pint for 1 shilling
"Good peach brandy," one half pint for 1 shilling
"Hot breakfast," 1 shilling
"Common dinner," 1 shilling
"Extraordinary dinner," 1 shilling 6 pence
"Lodging per night, with clean sheets," 6 pence
"Corn per gallon (for the stock)," 1 shilling
"Supper," 8 pence
"Stable for the night, with fodder," 1 shilling, 8 pence
"Pasturage for the night," 8 pence

Today the old tavern, known formerly as one of the best on the Plank Road, is a barn, sheltering the owner's stock and housing the hay and fodder. The chimneys have crumbled to dust, the front door has been replaced by a big swinging barn door, and the steps are gone. An investigator will find that there were 8 rooms downstairs besides the dining room and kitchen. On the 2nd floor were a large hall and 6 bedrooms. At the top of the narrow stairway the 3rd floor consisted of 2 big loft rooms. The remaining windows are very narrow, the ceilings are low, and the wood has been painted several different colors. There are several original handmade doors. The fireplace used 8-foot logs.

At 1 corner of the house is a huge, long rock which some say was an "upping block," others a doorstep.

In "History of the Pearson Family of Wayne County, North Carolina 1700-1981" (1982), Ruth Pearson Harper, who quoted this article in her chapter on the Newlin family, comments:

Joseph Newlin did not move to New Market until after 1826. The use of English money must surely have ceased some time before he owned the tavern. The prices quoted must have been taken from an older document. The small photograph that accompanies the article shows a very plain, totally unadorned building. The chimneys are gone and the porch, if there ever was one, is gone too. On the side is a "shed" room which may have been the kitchen of the tavern.

While researching the Newlin family, Dr. Algie I. Newlin (1895-1985), Professor of History and Political Science at Guilford College, corresponded with 2 of Joseph Newlin's great-granddaughters, Mary Alice Davis Allred (1918-1997) and Emily Davis Pugh (1922-2004), daughters of Hessie Newlin Davis (1891-1979), who inherited many Newlin family papers and antiques. These cousins graciously supplied Dr. Newlin with much information and donated a lot of furniture and papers to the Friends Historical Collection at Guilford College. Among these items was a handwritten diary of Joseph Newlin, an account of his 1852 religious trip to Quaker yearly meetings in Baltimore, Philadelphia, New York, and New England. This was 130 pages long, written in pencil which Dr. Newlin deciphered in 1983. He suggested publishing this diary for the "Southern Friend," the journal of the North Carolina Friends Historical Society, but this never materialized as he died shortly after. Dr. Newlin also stated in 1 of his letters that Joseph Newlin had a circulating library, and some of his books were also given to the Friends Collection, including an 1854 Gazeteer of the United States. 2 Bibles of the Joseph Newlin family were among these, 1 belonging to Joseph which was published in 1831 by the Bible Association of Friends in America, and a smaller one which was published in 1817 and was identified as "Ruth Newlin's Book." Dr. Newlin found a handwritten letter among the papers dated July 12, 1864 from Jonathan Worth to Joseph Newlin. In his September 12, 1977 letter to Mary Alice Allred and Emily Davis Pugh, Dr. Newlin comments, "At that time Jonathan Worth was Treasurer of North Carolina. It was in the last year of the Civil War. He was later elected Governor of North Carolina. At that time

North Carolina was in a hot political campaign, with incumbent Governor Zeb Vance challenged by W.W. Holden, 1 of the most controversial political leaders in the history of North Carolina. Worth was from Randolph County and he and Joseph Newlin were apparently very good friends."

In the Reading Room of the Friends Historical Collection of Guilford College's Hege Library is a cellarette that belonged to the Joseph Newlin family and was donated by his Davis great-granddaughters in the late 1970s.

Perhaps the most valuable item the Davis sisters donated to the Guilford College Friends Collection was a desk which their aunt, Miss Hettie Newlin (1893-1964), inherited from her father Oliver Newlin. It probably belonged to Ruth Farlow Newlin's grandfather, Nathan Farlow, as it was mentioned in Nathan's 1832 will.

There are small illustrations of portraits of Joseph and Ruth Farlow Newlin in Dr. Newlin's 1965 Newlin genealogy, but they cannot copy and Joseph's face is barely distinguishable. It has not been determined where the original pictures are which these were copied from. There is a better picture of Joseph's father, Nathaniel Newlin (1768-1867), in the book, and apparently there were many copies made of this picture taken in Indiana as several extant ones are still in the possession of Nathaniel's descendants in both Indiana and North Carolina.

Joseph Newlin's home and tavern no longer stand. They were located roughly across the street from Marlboro Friends Meeting at Sophia, North Carolina on Marlboro Church Road near where it ends at Route 311. The land Joseph owned bordered along present-day Route 311, began where the elementary school is now located, and was across from the present golf course between Sophia and New Market.

The following is a rough-draft article that Dr. Newlin typed up with the intention of publishing a biography of Joseph Newlin and a transcription of his diary in the Quaker publication "The Southern Friend: The Journal of the North Carolina Friends Historical Society," but he died less than 2 years after he prepared this sketch around 1983 and it was apparently never published.

The above name and address are on the cover page of a small pocket notebook which contains the handwritten diary of Joseph Newlin. The diary gives with frankness, and in considerable detail, Joseph Newlin's account of his travels from Randolph County in North Carolina, through Baltimore Yearly Meeting, Philadelphia Yearly Meeting, and into New England Yearly Meeting. The journey covered the period from March 20 to June 11, 1852, a period of 13 weeks, more than 130 years ago. This diary was found in 1 of 2 boxes of old letters, deeds, tax receipts, and other papers brought to me by 2 of Joseph Newlin's great-granddaughters, Mary Alice Allred and Emily Pugh. These 2 are my distant cousins but they are much closer than that to me. My great-great-grandfather James Newlin was the 1st of the 6 children of John and Mary Pyle Newlin, and their great-great-grandfather, Nathaniel Newlin, was the youngest in that family. This makes these 2 sisters my 4th cousins, if my system of counting kinship is not in error.

I am supposing that this diary had lain largely unnoticed through 3 generations of the descendants of Joseph Newlin. I spent the better part of 2 weeks looking through the contents of these 2 boxes and in deciphering and typing the diary. I am delighted to find it, because I feel that its contents make an important contribution to the history of Friends in the 1850s.

Joseph Newlin was a prominent member of the Society of Friends in North Carolina during the period in which he lived, and his prominence stands out during the whole history of Friends in this state. He stands shoulder to shoulder with his 1st cousin John Newlin, of Saxapahaw, among the leading members of the Newlin family in the South. He was born in the southeastern part of what is now Alamance, within the limits of Spring Monthly Meeting, on July 21, 1797. He died on August 20, 1865, New Market, in Randolph County, at the age of 68. On September 20, 1820 he and Ruth Farlow, daughter of Isaac and Mary Holiday Farlow, were married at Marlboro Meeting House. Joseph Newlin was 23 years old and Ruth Farlow was 19 at the time of their wedding. They lived for 7 years within the limits of Spring Monthly Meeting. In 1826, Nathaniel and Catherine Hadley Newlin [Joseph's parents], and all of their descendants except the family of Joseph and Ruth Farlow Newlin, joined the wagon train of emigrants to Indiana.

Joseph and Ruth Newlin are said to have decided to move to Indiana to join their relatives in that new state, and Joseph resigned his position as Clerk of Spring Monthly Meeting in preparation for that move. They went to Randolph County to visit Ruth's relatives before beginning the long journey. This visit proved to be fatal to their plans to migrate to the Middle West. The ties with the Farlow family were too strong; they decided to move to Randolph County instead. On September 29, 1827, they received from Spring Monthly Meeting a certificate to transfer their membership to Marlboro Monthly Meeting, Ruth Farlow Newlin's home meeting.

The movie house manager, Joseph Hamlin, 50, a bald pockety widower who lives on the second floor of the theater, said he was awakened yesterday morning at 7:30 o'clock by a fireman who told him that the theater was on fire. Hamlin said he ran down to the lobby and found it filled with smoke. He turned in the alarm and then ran back upstairs to arouse the other occupants of the building.

Hamlin said he was overcome by smoke before he could arouse anyone else. He was taken to Avon Hospital in the police ambulance, suffering from shock and smoke inhalation. He was released after treatment.

Fire Chief Edward Connolly said the fire started in the basement under the stage. He said the fire apparently had been burning for some time before it was discovered. The theater was equipped with a sprinkler system, but Connolly said the fire had gained such headway that the sprinklers were unable to check it.

Connolly said the theater was filled to capacity with 1,200 persons when the fire was discovered. Ushers and employees of the theater assisted in the evacuation of the building. Firemen had the fire under control in 30 minutes.

Damage to the theater building was estimated at $50,000 by Fire Chief Connolly. The theater was owned by the Avon Realty Corporation. The theater was closed for the season on May 15, 1931.

Joseph Newlin's capability and versatility were revealed by the many interests in which his life was deeply involved. In 1837, the year in which New Garden Boarding School began its long career, Joseph was named as 1 of the 15 members of the Board of Trustees of that institution. He served on this board for 29 years, 20 years of this period as chairman of the board, longer than any other chairman during the history of the Boarding School. His term as chairman covered the period of the Civil War when New Garden Boarding School met one of its most serious crises.

In the economic realm Joseph Newlin's interests and achievements were varied and important. In some of the interests he was deeply involved. His farming enterprise and landholdings were extensive. In 1840 he bought the New Market Inn, located a few miles south of High Point and 3 miles from Marlboro Meeting House. The Fayette-Salem Plank Road went by his house, and the stagecoach made the Inn 1 of its regular stops. The New Market Post Office was located at the New Market Inn, and for several years, Joseph Newlin was its postmaster. Joseph and a partner owned and operated a mercantile establishment, a store which dealt in commodities as varied as from a sewing needle to a corn planter and other farm equipment. He was secretary of the New Market Foundry of which he was a major stockholder. He was a stockholder in and secretary of the Union Manufacturing Company, a textile factory located in Randleman, North Carolina. He owned stock in the Fayette-Salem Plank Road, which passed his home.

In spite of his extensive business interests, he entered actively into the spirit and work of the Society of Friends. His important position in the yearly meeting school has already been mentioned. At the time of his decision to move to Marlboro Meeting, he was the clerk of Spring Monthly Meeting. A few years later, he became Clerk of Marlboro Monthly Meeting.

On January 1, 1852, Marlboro Monthly Meeting granted Joseph Newlin a certificate for a religious visit which would take him to at least 4 other yearly meetings in the United States. The certificate reads:

Our beloved Friend Joseph Newlin informed this meeting that he believed that it would be right for him to accompany our friend Daniel Barker in a religious visit to most or all of the yearly meetings in North America and some of the meetings belonging thereto as set forth in the certificate. After a time of weighty deliberations thereon the meeting unites with him therein and encourages him to attend thereto as best wisdom may direct he being an elder in unity with us.

The diary, which Joseph Newlin kept on this journey, is a rather unique and a very valuable item in the history of American Friends in that day. It is a day-by-day record of the journey: the places through which he passed, the names of the people who entertained him for a meal, for tea or for a night, the person who provided transportation while Joseph was within the limits of a local meeting, the meetings attended, his evaluation of the spiritual and numerical strength of many of the meetings, his comments on the farms and the farming country through which they passed, his visits to textile mills, copper manufacturing plants, city waterworks, and the Friends schools in the yearly meeting which he visited.

The information given by the diary indicates that the major purpose of the journey was of a religious nature, to meet and get acquainted with Friends in other meetings, to attend their meetings for worship, and their meetings for business, and to attend session of the yearly meetings. But the journey was not all consumed by this interest. His wide experience in agriculture, business, and manufacturing kept him alert to these features in the communities through which he passed.

the following information is from "The Newlin Family: Ancestors and Descendants of John and Mary Pyle Newlin" (1965) by Dr. Algie I. Newlin and Harvey Newlin, page 525:

The only descendants of Nathaniel and Catherine Hadley Newlin, remaining in North Carolina after the great migration from Spring Meeting, was the family of Joseph and Ruth Farlow Newlin. Joseph was Presiding Clerk of Spring Meeting when that body gave permission to the preponderant number of his family to change their residence to Indiana. Around 1930, Oliver Newlin, the 11th in Joseph's family of 13, stated that he had heard since childhood that his father resigned his position in Spring Meeting in 1827 with the intention of moving to Indiana. After visiting Ruth Farlow Newlin's relatives in Randolph County, Ruth's family ties were so strong that they moved to Randolph County instead of migrating to Indiana. This change of mind was significant in that it started an important branch of the Newlin family in that area of North Carolina.

Joseph's home, near what is today Sophia, North Carolina, was located on the famous Plank Road, known as the 'Appian Way,' that extended from Fayetteville, North Carolina to Salem, in the same state. At his home, was the station, or stopping place for the coaches on the Plank Road. He was, for a number of years, the postmaster of New Market, North Carolina. At a later date his daughter, Ruth Emily, held this position and his son, Duncan, was its last postmaster.

In 1890 it was said of New Market: 'This is an old settled place, and was the home of Capt. John Bryant, a Whig, who was shot in his old house by Colonel Fanning. The place afterwards came into the possession of Shubal Gardner, who had a store there and was regarded as a big man. He owned a number of lots in Johnsonville and at one time drove a heard of beeves to Philadelphia.

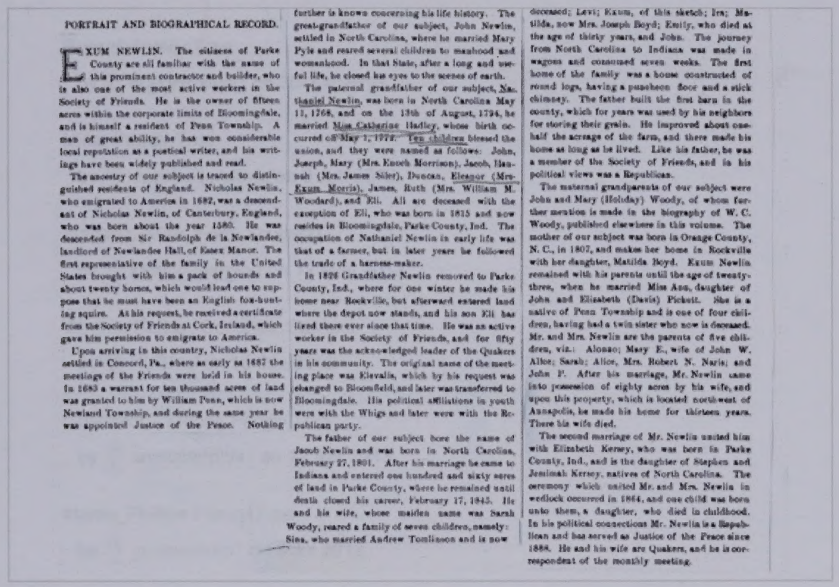
Bio of Exum Newlin

1893, Parke County, Indiana, USA



PORTRAIT AND BIOGRAPHICAL RECORD.

EXUM NEWLIN. The citizens of Parke County are all familiar with the name of this prominent contractor and builder, who is also one of the most active workers in the Society of Friends. He is the owner of fifteen acres within the corporate limits of Bloomingdale, and is himself a resident of Penn Township. A man of great ability, he has won considerable local reputation as a poetical writer, and his writings have been widely published and read.

The ancestry of our subject is traced to distinguished residents of England. Nicholas Newlin, who emigrated to America in 1682, was a descendant of Nicholas Newlin, of Canterbury, England, who was born about the year 1595. He was descended from Sir Randolph de la Newlandee, landlord of Newlandee Hall, of Essex Manor. The first representative of the family in the United States brought with him a pack of hounds and about twenty horses, which would lead one to suppose that he must have been an English fox-hunting squire. At his request, he received a certificate from the Society of Friends at Cork, Ireland, which gave him permission to emigrate to America.

Upon arriving in this country, Nicholas Newlin settled in Concord, Pa., where as early as 1687 the meetings of the Friends were held in his house. In 1683 a warrant for ten thousand acres of land was granted to him by William Penn, which is now Newland Township, and during the same year he was appointed Justice of the Peace. Nothing further is known concerning his life history. The great-grandfather of our subject, John Newlin, settled in North Carolina, where he married Mary Pyle and reared several children to manhood and womanhood. In that State, after a long and useful life, he closed his eyes to the scenes of earth.

The paternal grandfather of our subject, Nathaniel Newlin, was born in North Carolina May 13, 1768, and on the 13th of August, 1794, he married Miss Catharine Hadley, whose birth occurred on May 1, 1772. Ten children blessed the union, and they were named as follows: John, Joseph, Mary (Mrs. Enoch Morrison), Jacob, Hannah (Mrs. James Siler), Duncan, Eleanor (Mrs. Exum Morris), James, Ruth (Mrs. William M. Woodard), and Eli. All are deceased with the exception of Eli, who was born in 1813 and now resides in Bloomingdale, Parke County, Ind. The occupation of Nathaniel Newlin in early life was that of a farmer, but in later years he followed the trade of a harness-maker.

In 1824 Grandfather Newlin removed to Parke County, Ind., where for one winter he made his home near Rockville, but afterward entered land where the depot now stands, and his son Eli has lived there ever since that time. He was an active worker in the Society of Friends, and for fifty years was the acknowledged leader of the Quakers in his community. The original name of the meeting place was Elevalla, which by his request was changed to Bloomfield, and later was transferred to Bloomingdale. His political affiliations in youth were with the Whigs and later were with the Republican party.

The father of our subject bore the name of Jacob Newlin and was born in North Carolina, February 27, 1801. After his marriage he came to Indiana and entered one hundred and sixty acres of land in Parke County, where he remained until death closed his career, February 17, 1845. He and his wife, whose maiden name was Sarah Woody, reared a family of seven children, namely: Sina, who married Andrew Tomlinson and is now deceased; Levi; Exum, of this sketch; Ira; Matilda, now Mrs. Joseph Boyd; Emily, who died at the age of thirty years, and John. The journey from North Carolina to Indiana was made in wagons and consumed seven weeks. The first home of the family was a house constructed of round logs, having a puncheon floor and a stick chimney. The father built the first barn in the county, which for years was used by his neighbors for storing their grain. He improved about one-half the acreage of the farm, and there made his home as long as he lived. Like his father, he was a member of the Society of Friends, and in his political views was a Republican.

The maternal grandparents of our subject were John and Mary (Holiday) Woody, of whom further mention is made in the biography of W. C. Woody, published elsewhere in this volume. The mother of our subject was born in Orange County, N. C., in 1807, and makes her home in Rockville with her daughter, Matilda Boyd. Exum Newlin remained with his parents until the age of twenty-three, when he married Miss Ann, daughter of John and Elizabeth (Davis) Pickett. She is a native of Penn Township and is one of four children, having had a twin sister who now is deceased. Mr. and Mrs. Newlin are the parents of five children, viz.: Alonzo; Mary E., wife of John W. Alice; Sarah; Alice, Mrs. Robert N. Naris; and John P. After his marriage, Mr. Newlin came into possession of eighty acres by his wife, and upon this property, which is located northwest of Annapolis, he made his home for thirteen years. There his wife died.

The second marriage of Mr. Newlin united him with Elizabeth Kersey, who was born in Parke County, Ind., and is the daughter of Stephen and Jemimah Kersey, natives of North Carolina. The ceremony which united Mr. and Mrs. Newlin in wedlock occurred in 1864, and one child was born unto them, a daughter, who died in childhood. In his political connections Mr. Newlin is a Republican and has served as Justice of the Peace since 1888. He and his wife are Quakers, and he is correspondent of the monthly meeting.

Hi Ralph,

A message I received from someone connected to Timothy Haney's wife Mary Gold regarding the civil war Timothys.

"I do have a question about your entry for Timothy Haney son of John as being the one in the Civil War. I believe that it was your Timothy and the reason is that my George W. Routh was a 2nd Lt. Timothy or T. M. was a 2nd Lt. and Horace England, John England all of which married daughters of Sterling Gold. were in Co. H 63rd Tennessee (formerly the 5th McKenzies) as was Jacob and William Gold who were cousins and an Emmanuel Haney (who on Ancestry.com is listed as being born in 1824 and a son of William) They also all left Bradley Co., Tennessee at about the same time. Please let me know if I am wrong."

I have decided that the only way to clear this up for sure is to order the records, so that's what I'm going to do. My aunt's info. was that Timothy's civil war service was mentioned in his Mexican War pension file when at some point he was applying for more bounty land or something. Also mentioned something about him refusing to sign the "oath of allegiance" but I'm not familiar with what that is.
Since you already have the records for Timothy Haney in the 5th (McKenzie's) cav. I'm going to see what the records show for the Timothy or T.M. Haney in the 63rd and also order that pension file for the Mexican War. When I get them, I'll let you know what they say and maybe we can put this to rest once and for all!

Hi Ralph,

It's me again, and I'm still looking! I just wanted to get your opinion on something regarding Timothy Haney in a TN civil war regiment. Here is what I found.

ROSTERS OF CONFEDERATE SOLDIERS, 1861-1865, volume 7, by Hewitt [1996], p. 188

Haney, T. M. TN 63rd Inf. Co. H 2nd Lt."

SUPPLEMENT TO THE OFFICIAL RECORD OF THE UNION AND CONFEDERATE ARMIES, volume 79, by Broadfoot [1998]

"Record of events for 63rd Tennessee Inf., April 1862 - Dec 1864 ...
Officers of Company H ...

Timothy Haney, 2nd Lt., Company C, First Tennessee Cav., r. Feb. 28, 1862"

The following quote is from 63rd TENNESSEE INFANTRY REGIMENT website whose web address is below.

http://www.tngenweb.org/civilwar/csainf/csa63.html

"The ten companies from which the 63rd Regiment was formed had been organized as independent companies during the months of April, May, June and July, 1862. Many of the men had previously served in 12 months' organizations of cavalry. Some had served in the 36th Tennessee Infantry, which was disbanded. Some of them were from the 26th Tennessee Infantry Regiment who were not present at Fort Donelson when their regiment was surrendered, and were transferred to these companies by order of Major General E. Kirby Smith in May and June, 1862. Most of these were returned to their original organizations by order of General Bragg, in October and November, 1862." ...

"B. F. Brittain, Co. "H". Organized May 16, 1862 at Cleveland, Bradley County. Formerly Co. "C" 1st (Rogers') East Tennessee Cavalry Regiment. Captain William L. Brown."

The National Park Service Soldiers and Sailors System website lists:
T.M. Haney, 63rd TN Inf. (Fain's Reg. 74th TN Inf.) Company H, Rank in: 3rd Lieutenant, Rank out: 2nd Lieutenant, Alternate Name: Timothy Haney
Film Number M231, Roll 18

Timothy Haney's wife Mary Gold/Gould had a sister named Martha Gold who married George W. Routh. There is also a George W. Routh listed in the 63rd Inf.

I think this is my Timothy but wanted to ask your opinion. I'm don't have the resources to order the service records for all "possibles" and must make every one count. So I wondered if you think this Timothy is enough of a possibility to risk it.
Thanks.

ELWOOD, IND., MONDAY, JANUARY 3, 1916

ISAAC K. MORRIS DIES FOLLOWING LONG ILLNESS

Two Long Years of Suffering Ended For Respected Man.

After two years of intense suffering from a cancer of the face, Isaac K. Morris, age 64 years, died Saturday evening at his home on North A street. He had been sinking rapidly for several days and the end was not unexpected when it came.

The deceased was born July 16, 1851 in Randolph county where the early years of his life were spent. He was married at an early age but his wife died shortly after the birth of their third child. Thirty-five years ago he was again married and in the stepmother the three children found the love and affection that they had been robbed of when the mother died. The family came to this city a number of years ago and the deceased numbered his friedns here by the score. He was one of the older membrs of the Odd Fellows lodge and that order gave him every possible attention during his long illness. He is survived by a wife, the three children: W. L. and Henry Morris and Mrs. Frank Fincher, all of this city, one sister, one half-sister and one half-brother.

The funeral will be held at the Holiness Christian church Tuesday at 10 o'clock, Rev. Edward Schoeff in charge, and interment will follow in the city cemetery.

ROOF FIRES HEAD LIST

97 Runs Were Made By The Fire Department During Past Year,

MANY ORDERS WERE ISSUED

At the reguler meeting of the city council this evening, Chief Herman Barber, of the fire department, will read his annual report of the work done by the fire department during the year. It is pleasing to note that the total losses during the year amounted to only $15,187, which is considered very low in a community the size of Elwood. This small loss in a great measure is due to the efficiency of the fire department which fought a number of dangerous blazes and by effective work succeeded in keeping the loss dow nto a small fiure. The department and individual members are worthy of commendation for their services during the year.

The report shows sparks from defective flues falling upon shingle

Virginia E. Morris

Jan. 17, 1921 - July 31, 2008

WEST DES MOINES, IOWA — Virginia Eloise (Newman) Morris, 87, died July 31, 2008, in West Des Moines, Iowa, from complications of cancer.

Virginia was born Jan. 17, 1921 in Cincinnati, Ohio, to Jesse and Florence (Seymour) Newman. She grew up in Anderson, graduating in 1939 from Anderson High School. She was active in the school's award-winning a cappella choir and performed in Washington, D.C. for First Lady Eleanor Roosevelt. In 1942, Virginia graduated from Saint John's Hospital School of Nursing in Anderson as a registered nurse. During her career, she did hospital, doctor's office, private-duty and college health clinic nursing.

On July 21, 1946, Virginia married William McKay Morris. During their nearly 40-year marriage, Bill and Virginia lived in Somerville, N.J.; Oil City and Mercer, Pa.; Marietta, Ohio; Urbandale, Iowa; and Lake Zurich, Ill.

Surviving are their two children, John D. (Nancy) Morris of Cedar Rapids, Iowa, and Eloise M. (Al) Gardner of West Des Moines, Iowa, plus six grandchildren, Hannah Garside, Claire (Drew) Clark, Rebecca (Aaron) Mueller, Reid Morris, Drew Lietzow and Isaac Gardner; and great-grandchild, Mekhi Lietzow. Following Bill's death in March 1986, Virginia enjoyed living at Luther Village in Arlington Heights, Ill., until moving to Iowa in 2005.

Virginia loved cooking and baking, gardening, helping home-bound senior citizens, leadership in Welcome Wagon clubs, teaching children's Sunday school and traveling. She was a lifelong Presbyterian and served her church in many capacities.

Visitation will be Friday from 4 to 7 p.m. at Brown-Butz-Diedring Funeral Home, 515 E. 53rd St., Anderson, Ind. Interment will be 10 a.m. Saturday at Anderson Memorial Park Cemetery.

Memorial gifts in her honor may be made to Wycliffe Bible Translators or a local chapter of the American Cancer Society or Alzheimer's Association.

Department, the top half of the body — including its rib cage, arms and damaged skull — were discovered.

"They'll take all the remains back to the University of Indianapolis," Stanton said Saturday while waiting for city workers to cover the hole with steel sheets.

The sex and approximate age of the person buried in the plot had not yet been released.

Stanton said Dr. Stephen Nawrocki, a forensic anthropologist from the University of Indianapolis, and two students completed the excavation shortly after 4 p.m. Saturday.

Nawrocki could not be reached for comment.

The location where the bones were found is the site of the old Tharpe graveyard, which was closed in 1863 by the Anderson Cemetery Association. Most bodies in the graveyard were reburied at the West Maplewood Cemetery, according to Sgt. William Casey of the Anderson Police Department.

TO KEEP NERVE

Chancellor Moves to Restore Finances as Police Check Rioters.

AIDS PRIVATE INDUSTRY

Government Advises Purpose to Enforce Drastic Economy Program.

BERLIN, July 15.—(AP).—To the accompaniment of news of communist rioting in many sections of Germany, Chancellor Bruening's government tonight broadcast a series of decrees by radio opening the banks and clamping down drastic regulations on traffic in foreign currencies.

The news that riots had broken out in a number of cities where quiet had reigned throughout the day began to arrive in Berlin by telegraph at the same time that Finance Minister Dietrich was vigorously appealing by radio to the people to keep their nerve, to "use common sense," and to stand behind the country's leaders in their task of restoring financial and industrial equilibrium.

Although police were forced to resort to the use of firearms in Dresden, Leipsig and Karlsruhe reports received up to midnight indicated they were able to control the situation everywhere.

All banks in the country will be reopened tomorrow, the government decreed, but at least for the rest of this week they will take care of only such essential items as payrolls, tax obligations and the unemployment dole.

It was made clear that Chancellor Bruening was determined not to permit a new run on foreign currencies or the resumption of raids on savings banks.

Government Fortified

Foreign Minister Dietrich also asked the people not to forget that "it is the government, but private industry which stands for cash." The Hoover plan, he said, with Chancellor Bruening's drastic economy program, has put the German exchequer "on its feet" and even enabled the government to begin repaying some of its floating debt. Already, he said, several hundred millions have been returned to industry.

One fatality from the rioting throughout the country was reported late tonight. The demonstrations were wide-spread and directed largely against reduction of the dole.

In Leipzig the communists fired upon a police lorry. Twenty-six men were arrested, the ensuing demonstrations in which the police used blackjacks. A woman and a man were wounded when the police used their pistols in Dresden to disperse a group of rioters. In Oberhausen, in the Ruhr district, about 500 communists fired from housetops upon the police and one policeman was injured. After the arrival of reinforcements order was restored.

Pistols were also used in a fray at Inchwerte, near Dortmund, and one man was killed and another injured.

Berlin itself was remarkably quiet

District Dentists Enjoy Party Here

Twenty-five members of the East Central District Dental Society attended a golf party and picnic Wednesday at Grandview clubhouse. The dentists competed in an eighteen-hole golf tourney in the afternoon and were guests at a dinner at 6:30 p. m.

Muncie will entertain the third meeting of the district group Wednesday, August 19.

Dr. George Snyder, of Muncie, won first in the golf tourney by turning in the lowest net score. Dr. H. L. Shepherd, of Newcastle, came in second, and Dr. F. F. Confeld, also of Newcastle, placed third. The winner's low gross score was 79. Mrs. R. A. Shepherd was chairman of the committee that arranged tables of bridge and euchre for the dentists' wives.

Dr. G. C. Crouse presided at the dinner. Other members of the local committee were Dr. Gail Sayers, Dr. William L. Salyers, Dr. Walter Simon, and Dr. G. C. Repass.

STATE CITIES

Chief Examiner of Accounts Board Plans to Advise His Field Agents.

EXPECTED HERE SOON

Investigation Being Made of Shortage at City Utility Plants.

Lawrence F. Orr, chief examiner of the State Board of Accounts, will leave Indianapolis today for a tour of eleven Indiana cities and towns where he will visit the two field examiners of the board in each town and make an effort to speed up the work in progress in each.

Orr will visit Anderson, Marion, Muncie, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Wabash, LaPorte, Fowler, Gary, Lagrange and Columbia City. He will help the various examiners with their problems and work with them in an advisory capacity. He will be gone from his office two weeks.

It was understood that Anderson will be one of the first cities visited. John Cikend and John Minuman, field examiners, are at work on the records of the municipal electric light and water plants in this city, where, it is said, there is a defalcation of approximately $10,000 which may be charged to three former employes. Orr refused to affirm the report or comment upon it at Indianapolis last night.

The field examiners have been at work on the records of the light and water plants here since late in May. Those who have been discharged during the course of the examination are Walter Brandon, secretary of the water works; John Gammon, utility plants auditor, and Ernston Druley, cashier of the light plant.

At Marion Orr will work with the examiners who are engaged in attempting to solve the city's financial tangle, and in Lake county he will aid in shaping up the change of county officers from the fee to the salary system which was authorized by the 1931 legislature.

VISITORS DAY AT 4-H CLUB CAMP

County Outing at Idlewold Reaches Climax Today.

Visitors' day will be observed today at the annual 4-H Club camp in progress at Idlewold park at Pendleton. The second annual camp will break Friday morning when 131 boys and girls leave for their homes in the three counties. The camp has been successful from a standpoint of attendance and knowledge received by the 4-H club members from the expert leaders in various phases of club work.

Regular classes will continue through today, dismissing late this afternoon. Following the vesper service, which will be in charge of Rev. Arthur McDavitt, First Baptist pastor of Muncie, the club members will put on a program under the direction of J. P. Oyler, Kempton vocational agriculture teacher.

The campers visited the Indiana Reformatory early this week.

BEDFORD, Ind., July 15 (AP)—Roger Cannedy, 22, was arrested today as the alleged perpetrator of the bombing of the Marley Brothers barber shop here last night. He was released under $5,000 bond.

Sale of a piece of pipe and two caps similar to those found after the explosion were traced, police said, to Cannedy. He is the son of Fred Cannedy, downtown barber shop proprietor.

The Marley brothers, James, Jesse and William, said they believed their shop had been wrecked because of a reduction in the charge for shaves.

RAINS NEEDED TO BREAK RULE OF HEAT WAVE

Mercury Reaches 95 Degrees For Fourth Time—Streams Low, Soil Parched.

No immediate relief is promised residents of Anderson and vicinity from the second intense heat wave of the season which struck without warning Monday, weather forecasts reading "mostly fair and continued warm." The local U. S. weather bureau thermometer at the Philadelphia Quartz Works registered 95 degrees yesterday for the fourth time this summer.

Temperatures in several Indiana cities passed 100 degrees.

While river and other streams in the county are extremely low and many are covered with a heavy film of algae, showers Tuesday served slightly to aid crops but more rain is needed soon if crops are to escape damage.

Wayne Kimball, age 35, 830 Prospect street, an employe of the Nicholson File plant who who overcome with heat Tuesday is slightly improved but is not out of danger.

Pools Furnish Relief

Swimming pools in and near Anderson were crowded yesterday by relief seekers. The municipal pool at Athletic park was used by 1,114 persons yesterday, according to Emory B. Jackson, park superintendent. Of this number 420 girls were admitted free in the morning. The Zoo Island Park swimming pool was visited by 800 persons yesterday. Falls Park pool in Pendleton was also crowded until closing time last night.

The Big Bell and Tent Repair Company of Elwood sponsored "Elwood Day" at Zoo Island Park yesterday at which 2,000 persons spent the day. Band concerts were served at noon and games and contests held in the afternoon. Next Friday a large number of persons are expected at the park from Alexandria.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Herald:

CLAREMORE, Okla., July 15 —Well, we had a great day for Gatty and Post. It was just an ordinary day for Claremore but it was a big thing for those boys. They were sure a town like ours. We built a real airport the four days just to welcome 'em. I was with 'em in Tulsa and flew over here in the Winnie Mae with them. It's the combination of the two that makes 'em so great. I'd bet on 'em going around the world end ways and crossing both poles. It it wasn't for banquets they wouldn't have any time to sleep at all. Smart fellows.

CINCINNATI, July 16. (AP)—Captain George Enders brings his plane down in Budapest, it may mean funds for medical treatment for his mother.

Mrs. John Enders, mother of the trans-Atlantic flier, is confined to bed in her home here. If her son's flight is successful, he has promised to use what funds he obtains to purchase radium needed to treat her, she said.

Enders' parents are confident he will succeed. "He has been a lucky flier since he began nine years ago," his mother said.

Wheat Leads Bumper Yields, Averaging 22 Bushels.

Special to The Herald.

LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 15.—With a yield of 22 bushels to the acre indicated for the entire state, the wheat crop in Indiana was reported on July 1 at the highest figure since crop reports were begun in 1866, according to the July report of M. M. Justin and C. D. Palmer, agricultural statisticians of Purdue University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Wheat is remarkably uniform over the entire state, with long straw, heavy stand, and well filled heads. Plumper wheat of higher test weight has been produced in other years, but apparently there never has been such a generally good crop, according to the Purdue man.

All crops were reported at above the average condition on July 1, with the combined acreage of all crops higher than it has been for five years, largely as a result of favorable weather during planting season. The acreage of corn is slightly above last year's planting, and the yield indicated by the growing condition is 39 bushels to the acre, as compared with an average yield of 26.2 bushels last year.

Other Grains Yield High

The acreage of oats is slightly smaller than last year, but the yield indicated on July 1 was 34 bushels to the acre, well above the ten year average. The barley yield was indicated at 24 bushels, with an acreage 12 per cent larger than last year. Rye was used extensively as an emergency crop last fall and the acreage this year is 45 per cent larger than a year ago, with an indicated yield of 14.5 bushels.

The acreage of potatoes is 20 per cent above last year, and the indicated yield of 85 bushels is slightly above average. Tobacco was planted more extensively than a year ago and the growing condition is better than average.

Gild In Old Jugs Starts Legal Fight

BUFFALO, Ill., July 15 (AP)—Unearthing of two pottery jugs containing $5,000 in gold coins in the center of the business district of this village yesterday, has started a legal fight to determine the ownership of the money.

The money was discovered by two ditch diggers on the property of Alex M. Booth, who has claimed ownership of the find. Booth's claim is disputed by relatives of Dr. Peter Leeds, a recluse of the "eighties," who is believed to have buried the money, and the two workmen, Edward Jack and James Rogers.

Older residents of this place believe the money was buried a half century ago by Doctor Leeds whom they described as a "miser" and recluse.

Commissioners of Two Counties Hold Joint Session.

Contracts for two road paving projects and a bridge to be constructed on the line separating Madison and Grant counties were awarded yesterday by the Board of County Commissioners. The low bid was accepted in each case.

A contract for the paving of Louise street from Nichol avenue to Eighteenth street was awarded to James T. Burke, of Anderson, on his bid of $11,990. Two other proposals were made.

The Madison and Grant county commissioners met jointly to accept bids for the county line bridge, and the contract was awarded to Reuben H. Ellis, of Richland. His bid was the lowest of the eleven proposals submitted by contractors.

William T. Russell was appointed inspector on the Fairview street paving project.

always affiliated with the Democratic party, and has taken an active part in local, county and state politics. In the fall elections of 1911 he was his party's candidate for the office of county recorder, and was elected to that position, taking charge of the duties of the office January 1, 1912, for a term of four years. He has proven himself a most faithful, capable and conscientious public official, and has firmly established himself in the confidence of his fellow-citizens. Fraternally, Mr. Carlton is connected with Quincy Lodge No. 230, Free and Accepted Masons; Elwood Chapter No. 109, Royal Arch Masons, and has attained the Scottish Rite degree. For some time he has been a member of the Lodge of the Benevolent and Protective Order of Elks, of which he served as exalted ruler, and has also been a member of the Grand Council. During his long residence in Madison county, Mr. Carlton has formed a wide acquaintance, and his popularity is attested by a wide circle of sincere friends.

THOMAS MORRIS. Perseverance, intelligence and industry combine to form the price of success in farming in these modern days of agricultural work, when the hard, unremitting toil of former years has given way in large degree to the scientific use of modern machinery and a comprehensive knowledge of intelligent methods of treating the soil. Madison county is the home of many skilled farmers who treat their vocation more as a profession than as a mere occupation and take a pardonable and justifiable pride in their accomplishments, among these being Thomas Morris, the owner of eighty acres of fine land located on the Lapel road in Anderson township. The successful farmer of today realizes that to forward his own interests he must advance those of his locality—that there can be no individual achievement without community development—and with other earnest and hard-working citizens Mr. Morris has labored to forward movements for the benefit of his township and its people, thus fairly earning a place for himself among those whose activities have bettered their localities.

Thomas Morris was born on the old Morris homestead near Anderson, Indiana, January 22, 1851, and is a son of Isaac and Nancy C. (Hainey) Morris. The family was founded in Madison county by William Morris, the grandfather of Thomas Morris, at an early date in the history of this section, he emigrating with his wife and children from Rush county. Isaac Morris was an agriculturist throughout his life, became a substantial man, and was influential in the community in which he resided. He and his wife were the parents of five children, of whom three grew to maturity: Thomas; Maria, who became the wife of Henry Warren; and William A., who married Hester Rogers, daughter of John Rogers, and has one child,—Nondas.

As a lad Thomas Morris accompanied his father to Miami county, there securing his education in the common schools during the winter terms, while the summer months were passed in assisting his father in the work of the home place. He embarked upon a career of his own when but twenty years of age, at that time locating upon a forty-acre tract of land in Jackson township. Some years later, after his marriage, he purchased the adjoining forty acres, in company with his father-in-law, but about eight years later disposed of his property and bought his present land, formerly known as the Copeland farm, but now called the Morris farm. Mr. Morris' advancement has been by steady stages. He has ever carried on his operations along well-defined lines and always

he has had his ultimate goal in view. No adventitious circumstances or lucky chances have combined to give him success; it has been fairly earned and is well deserved. A trip through the county would result in finding few more highly-cultivated properties and none that would give greater evidence of care and able management. The buildings are in the best of repair, the land is thoroughly worked and well drained and fenced, and the cattle sleek, well-fed and content. The whole property breathes prosperity.

Mr. Morris was married to Miss Caroline Coan, daughter of J. W. and Minerva (Sackston) Coan, and to this union there have been born three children: Maud M., who is now deceased; Jennie, who is the wife of Oliver C. Perkins; and Louie M., who is the wife of N. P. Johnston and has two children,—Cecil and Effie.

Mr. and Mrs. Morris are consistent members of the Methodist church, and are active in its work. As a citizen, Mr. Morris stands high, but his connection with political matters ceases when he has cast his vote in support of Democratic candidates and principles, although he is interested in his party's success. His wide circle of friends gives evidence of his general popularity.

EMERSON MANGER. One of the more ambitious and enterprising young farming men of Union township may be cited in the person of Emerson Manger, who gives his time and honest attention to the cultivation of his eighty acre farm, located some two miles north of the town of Chesterfield. His accomplishments in the years of his residence here have been well worthy of mention, and it is not too much to expect that the future will find him steadily advancing in prosperity and success.

Born on August 29, 1881, in Pike county, near the town of Piketon, Ohio, Mr. Manger is the son of William and Sallie (Butler) Manger. His father died when he was quite young, and his mother later married William Butler Bronnenberg, mention of which is to be found in a sketch devoted to the Bronnenbergs in another portion of this work. The Manger family originally came from Germany, where it was long established, and many of its representatives will be found there to the present day.

On August 5, 1905, Mr. Manger married Hazel Hancock, concerning whose family mention is made elsewhere in this work. Two children have been born to them,—Harold and Ralph.

Mr. Manger is a Democrat, but in no sense a politician, and he is fraternally identified by his membership in the Knights of Pythias and the Independent Order of Odd Fellows. He is prominent in local circles, and is known for one of the more successful stock men of the township.

WALTER MAUL. A native son of Pendleton, where he has passed all his life, Mr. Maul grew up in this community and learned a trade there has used his business energy in extending his work and service, and is now enjoying a yearly increasing success as a brick-mason contractor.

Walter Maul was born in Pendleton December 24, 1871, a son of George K. and Susan R. (Parson) Maul. The father was born at Huntsville in Fall Creek township in 1847, so that the family is among the oldest in southwestern Madison county. The father now resides at Caney, Kansas. During the Civil war he went out from Madison county as a soldier and gave faithful service to the Union. His wife was also born in Madison county, and her death occurred in 1884. They were th

Chancellor Moves to Restore Finances as Police Check Rioters.

AIDS PRIVATE INDUSTRY

Government Advises Purpose to Enforce Drastic Economy Program.

BERLIN, July 15.—(AP).—To the accompaniment of news of communist rioting in many sections of Germany, Chancellor Bruening's government tonight broadcast a series of decrees by radio opening the banks and clamping down drastic regulations on traffic in foreign currencies.

The news that riots had broken out in a number of cities where quiet had reigned throughout the day began to arrive in Berlin by telegraph at the same time that Finance Minister Dietrich was vigorously appealing by radio to the people to keep their nerve, to "use common sense," and to stand behind the country's leaders in their task of restoring financial and industrial equilibrium.

Although police were forced to resort to the use of firearms in Dresden, Leipzig and Karlsruhe reports received up to midnight indicated they were able to control the situation everywhere.

All banks in the country will be reopened tomorrow, the government decreed, but at least for the rest of this week they will take care of only such essential items as payrolls, tax obligations and the unemployment dole.

It was made clear that Chancellor Bruening was determined not to permit a new run on foreign currencies or the resumption of raids on savings banks.

Government Fortified

Foreign Minister Dietrich also asked the people not to forget that "it is not the government, but private industry which is pressed for cash." The Hoover plan, he said, with Chancellor Bruening's drastic economy program, has given the German exchequer "on its feet" and even enabled the government to begin repaying some of its floating debt. Already, he said, several hundred millions have been returned to industry.

One fatality from the rioting throughout the country was reported late tonight. The demonstrations were wide-spread and directed largely against reduction of the dole.

In Leipzig the communists fired upon a police lorry. Twenty-six men were arrested in succeeding demonstrations in which the police used blackjacks. A woman and a man were wounded when the police used their pistols in Dresden to disperse a group of rioters. In the Gelsenkirchen in the Ruhr district, about 500 communists fired from housetops upon the police and one policeman was injured. After the arrival of reinforcements order was restored.

Pistols were also used in a fray at Inchwerte, near Dortmund, and one man was killed and another injured.

Berlin itself was remarkably quiet

RAINS NEEDED TO BREAK RULE OF HEAT WAVE

Mercury Reaches 95 Degrees For Fourth Time—Streams Low, Soil Parched.

No immediate relief is promised residents of Anderson and vicinity from the second intense heat wave of the season which struck without warning Monday, weather forecasts reading "mostly fair and continued warm." The local U. S. weather bureau thermometer at the Philadelphia Quartz Works registered 95 degrees yesterday for the fourth time this season.

Temperatures in several Indiana cities passed 100 degrees.

White river and other streams in the county are extremely low and many are covered with a heavy mass of algae. Showers Tuesday served slightly to aid crops but more rain is needed soon if crops are to escape damage.

Wayne Kimball, age 35, 830 Prospect street, an employe of the Nicholson File plant who who overcome with heat Tuesday is slightly improved but is still under observation.

Pools Furnish Relief

Swimming pools in and near Anderson were crowded yesterday by relief seekers. The municipal pool at Athletic park was used by 1,114 persons yesterday, according to Emory B. Jackson, park superintendent. Of this number 420 girls were admitted free in the morning. Zoo Beach Park swimming pool was visited by 800 persons yesterday. Fulls Park pool at Pendleton was also crowded until closing time last night.

The Bell and Winch Lumber Company of Elwood sponsored "Elwood Day" at Zoo Island Park yesterday at which 2,000 persons spent the day. Basket dinners were served at noon and, games and sports staged in the afternoon. Next Friday a large number of persons are expected at the park from Alexandria.

WILL ROGERS says:

To the Editor of The Herald:

CLAREMORE, Okla., July 15.—Well, we had a great day for Gatty and Post. It was just an ordinary day for Claremore but it was a big thing for those boys. They never saw a town like ours. We built a real airport in four days just to welcome 'em. I was with 'em in Tulsa and flew over here in the Winnie Mae with them. It's the combination of the two that makes 'em so great. I'd bet on 'em going around the world end ways and crossing both poles. If it wasn't for banquets they wouldn't have any time to sleep at all. Smart fellows.

STATE CITIES

Chief Examiner of Accounts Board Plans to Advise His Field Agents.

EXPECTED HERE SOON

Investigation Being Made of Shortage at City Utility Plants.

Lawrence F. Orr, chief examiner of the State Board of Accounts, will leave Indianapolis today for a tour of eleven Indiana cities and towns where he will visit the two field examiners of the board in each town and make an effort to speed up the work in progress in each.

Orr will visit Anderson, Marion, Muncie, Fort Wayne, South Bend, Wabash, LaPorte, Fowler, Gary, Lagrange and Columbia City. He will help the various examiners with their problems and work with them in an advisory capacity. He will be gone from his office two weeks.

It was understood that Anderson will be one of the first cities visited. John O'Neal and John Hindman, field examiners, are at work on the records of the municipal electric light and water plants in this city, where it is said, there is a defalcation of approximately $10,000 which may be charged to three former employes. Orr refused to affirm the report or comment upon it at Indianapolis last night.

The field examiners have been at work on the records of the light and water plants here since late in May. Those who have been discharged during the course of the examination are Walter Brandon, secretary of the board; Frank Gammon, utility plants auditor, and Ernston Druley, cashier of the light plant.

At Marion Orr will work with the examiners who are engaged in attempting to solve the city's financial tangle, and in Lake county he will aid in shaping up the change of county officers from the fee to the salary system which ten was authorized by the 1931 legislature.

VISITORS DAY AT 4-H CLUB CAMP

County Outing at Idlewold Reaches Climax Today.

Visitors' day will be observed today at the annual 4-H Club camp in progress at Idlewold park at Pendleton. Many persons, including parents of the club members from Delaware, Tipton and Madison counties, are expected present during the forenoon and afternoon. Presentation of awards to star campers will feature the final program tonight following the vesper services.

The second annual camp will break Friday morning when 121 boys and girls leave for their homes in the three counties. The camp has been successful from a standpoint of attendance and knowledge received by the 4-H club members from the expert leaders in various phases of club work.

Regular classes will continue through today, dismissing late this afternoon. Following the vesper service, which will be in charge of Rev. Arthur McDavitt, First Baptist pastor of Muncie, the club members will put on a program under the direction of J. P. Oyler, Kempton vocational agriculture teacher.

The campers visited the Indiana Reformatory early this week.

Wheat Leads Bumper Yields, Averaging 22 Bushels.

Special to The Herald

LAFAYETTE, Ind., July 15.—With a yield of 22 bushels to the acre indicated for the entire state, the wheat crop in Indiana was reported on July 1 as the highest figure since crop reports were begun in 1866, according to the July report of M. M. Justin and C. D. Palmer, agricultural statisticians of Purdue University and the U. S. Department of Agriculture.

Wheat is remarkably uniform over the entire state, with long straw, heavy stand, and well filled heads. Plumper wheat of higher test weight has been produced in other years, but apparently there never has been such a generally good crop, according to the Purdue man.

The acreage reported at above the average condition on July 1, with the combined acreage of all crops higher than it has been for five years, largely as a result of favorable weather conditions. The indicated acreage of corn is slightly above last year's planting, and the yield indicated by the growing condition is 39 bushels to the acre, as compared with an average yield of 28.2 bushels last year.

Other Grains Yield High

The acreage of oats is slightly smaller than last year, but the yield indicated on July 1 was 34 bushels to the acre, well above the ten year average. The barley yield was indicated at 24 bushels, with an acreage 12 per cent larger than last year. Rye was used extensively as an emergency crop last fall and the acreage this year is 45 per cent larger than a year ago, with an indicated yield of 14.5 bushels.

The acreage of potatoes is 20 per cent above last year, and the indicated yield of 85 bushels is slightly above average. Tobacco was planted more extensively than a year ago and the growing condition is better than average.

BUFFALO, [illegible]—Uncertainty of [illegible] containing $6,000 in gold coins in the cellar of the [illegible] district of this village yesterday has started a legal fight to determine the ownership of the money.

Older residents of this place believe the money was buried by Dr. Leeds, who, they say, feared Leeds whom they described as a "miser" and recluse.

William Morris, the subject of this biography, is a prominent resident of Union Township, Bourbon County, Ky., was the place of his birth, March 13, 1820. Morris and Mary (Cummings) Morris are his parents. In 1834, or at the age of fourteen years, he accompanied his parents to Rush County, locating southeast of Rushville, where William spent the remainder of his youth on the farm. In 1847, he was married to Nancy Matlock, who died in 1849, leaving one child, Isabella, who is now the wife of George O. Pumphrey, and residents of Newton County, Indiana. In 1855, Mr. Morris was again married, this time to Miss Mary I. Smith, daughter of Louis and Rachel (Looney) Smith, the former a native of Virginia, born May 15, 1791, and the later a native of Kentucky, born February 9, 1795; they were both pioneers of Rush County. To this union of Mr. And Mrs. Morris, were born six children, viz: Noah, Emma N., Jesse L., Thomas M., William and Mary E., of whom Noah and Thomas M. are deceased. Mr. And Mrs. Morris are members of the Christian Church. In politics, he is a Democrat. He had a limited start in life, but has by hard and earnest toil provided himself with a comfortable home in his declining years. For nine years he was a resident of Hancock County, Indiana, but in 1866, returned to Rush County, and has made this his home ever since. In 1872, he moved upon the farm that he now owns near Griffin's Station.

Runaway Lad Faints At Food Exhibit

SOUTH BEND, Ind. (UP)—An Indianapolis youth who ran away from home because he was afraid of being punished for being five minutes late was returned to his parents Thursday.

The 14-year-old boy was treated at a local hospital after he fainted from hunger in a downtown department store while watching a food demonstration.

He told authorities he slept in an Indianapolis garage Tuesday night and hitchhiked to South Bend Wednesday.

He hadn't had a meal since Tuesday breakfast. He said he left home with 50 cents in his pocket, but spent the money for candy.

Volunteers Prove DDT-Sprayed Food Safe For Humans

By FRANK CAREY
Associated Press Science Reporte

ATLANTA, Ga. (AP)—Human volunteers have eaten big doses of DDT every day for a year to show that food from insecticide-sprayed fields is safe, a team of scientists said Thursday.

Some of the volunteers each day ate 200 times more DDT than the small traces that are known to appear in almost everyone's daily diet, the scientists said, but they showed no symptoms or "any sign of illness" related to the insecticide.

The study concluded that "there is a large safety factor associated with DDT as it now occurs in the general diet," even though it is true that some of the DDT we eat remains in our bodies.

Dr. Wayland J. Hayes Jr., Dr. William F. Durham, and chemist Cipriano Cueto Jr., of the U.S. Public Health Service toxicology section in Savannah, Ga., described the experiment to a session of the American Assn. for the Advancement of Science.

The scientists were concerned because "traces of DDT" occur in "nearly all prepared meals" and because recent studies showed that very small amounts of DDT were stored in almost everyone's body, usually in fatty tissue. Some doctors feared this stored-up DDT might act like a slow poison.

In the new study, 44 men took daily oral doses of DDT for a month and 14 for a full year. Some of the volunteers ate meals with the ordinary amount of DDT left in food by insecticide spraying, some ate 20 times as much DDT and some ate 200 times as much.

The results show that DDT storage in the body stops after about a year, even though we continue to eat it in food, the study said.

Martyn-Green's

tendant, heard Green's agonized cries and rushed upstairs.

"My leg is caught," Green gasped.

Sabia called police who summoned an ambulance from Knickerbocker Hospital. Dr. P. Shamsuddin, 25, of Madras, India, who has been at the hospital for four months as an exchange doctor, arrived aboard the ambulance 15 minutes later.

Shamsuddin examined Green who was in great pain, and told him "the leg will have to be amputated."

A policeman asked the doctor to wait. The intern stepped back and policemen used heavy iron bars to try to pry Green's leg free. The attempt failed.

"All of the bones in your leg are shattered, Mr. Green," the doctor said. "It is hanging only by some torn muscle. I must amputate."

The doctor told Green that he faced the danger of infection.

"Under those circumstances Doctor," Green said, "You have my permission."

Shamshuddin sent police into the neighborhood to search for a doctor to assist him. They returned with Dr. John Christensen, who gave Green morphine, to kill the pain.

The operation began an hour after Green was trapped. He remained conscious and staring at the ceiling while his leg was amputated just below the knee.

Doctors who examined Green at the hospital said he would have to undergo further surgery to close the leg wound.

The mill passed into the hands of Alfred Clark, and was some time in the eighties destroyed by fire and never rebuilt.

Thomas L. Beckwith was prominent in politics, having served as a member of the board of county commissioners and was the nominee of the republican party in 1874 for county treasurer, but owing to a large adverse majority was defeated.

Perkinsville at one time boasted of having one of the best silver cornet bands in this section of the country, which was often called to play at Anderson, Noblesville and other places.

Daniel Goldsberry, Jacob Zeller, William Adair and Dr. J. M. Garretson were also active in politics in their day. While neither of these gentlemen ever held office, they were alert to the interests of their friends.

Dr. John S. Hougham who once served as township trustee of Jackson township, moved over into the edge of Hamilton county and was elected to the legislature for one term.

While there is not the hustle and stir about the streets and business places that once was witnessed in Perkinsville, it is by no means passed the place where the evidence of life is extinct.

PRESENT BUSINESS

Frank Foland operates a general store there in which is found a large and well assorted stock of all kinds of merchandise demanded by the trade of that locality.

Doc. Applegate is proprietor of a well equipped drug store, the Eggless department store, Fred Applegate's Garage and repair shop. Perry Shell's cigar and tobacco store and Barner the blacksmith are all busy places and enjoy the patronage of the country around the village.

It has a large and commodious school building, which is a credit to the place and the authorities who caused it to be erected.

It has churches in which the people have ample places for worship, and the citizens are law abiding, loyal and true.

Much more could be said of this place, but enough has been written to demonstrate that the Daily Bulletin regards the town and its worthy inhabitants as its friends.

Dr. William M. Garretson is the oldest practicing physician in that part of the county at this time. He has from his earliest experience enjoyed a lucrative business, and has laid by a handsome fortune.

PERKINSVILLE PONDERS PAST

Perkinsville Is Given Name Of Pioneer Pottery Maker

JAMES ATHIA PERKINS

HARRIETT WEBB PERKINS

Two names are closely connected with the early history of western Jackson township, that of William Perkins who built the first grist mill and the other, James Perkins, who established a large pottery plant. Both industries were built along the north banks of White river on the site of the present town of Perkinsville, named for the maker of crocks and jugs.

It is known that the Perkins family of nine located on the north bank of the river where the town now stands in 1825. Just when Mr. Perkins arrived is uncertain, but it is known that he married Harriett Webb in William Webb's log cabin. A circuit rider performed the ceremony for the pioneer youth and his barefoot bride with head covered by a sun bonnet.

The Perkins family moved into what now is known as the Truitt home in Perkinsville prior to 1840. They are buried in the cemetery south of White river from the town. Older residents yet remember Mr. Perkins as the "man with the long white beard." Mrs. Mary Webb Gunn, now 85, is a younger cousin of Mrs. Perkins. The pictures above were made from photographs owned by Mrs. Isaac Goldsberry.

SCOTCH FARMERS AROUSED

Farmers of Scotland are roused over serious conditions of agriculture, and mass meetings are being held in many parts of the country. Ten thousand farm demonstrations recently at Perth and passed a resolution demanding that the government immediately convene a joint conference of all parties to evolve plans to stabilize agriculture. More than 200 agriculturalists from all parts of the borders held a mass meeting at Kelso and passed a resolution similar to that ratified at Perth. Each Fife, Wigtown and Central Banffshire have added their voices to the national protest, and demonstrations have been held at Cupar, Stranraer and Keith, and other places.

PERKINSVILLE RESTS AFTER BRISK PERIOD

Friendship Unshaken While Time Enforces Sharp Contrast With Past

FIRST SETTLERS IN 1820

Town Founder Won Barefoot Bride—Pioneers' Cabins —Reunion is Near

The little village of Perkinsville nestles serenely on the north bank of White river, thirteen miles northeast of Anderson, on the Hamilton-Madison county line, in Jackson township, Madison county.

There are fewer residents homes, and business houses at Perkinsville than there were less than thirty years ago. The old timer who visits Perkinsville reluctantly notes these facts. In an earlier day Perkinsville boasted of a population of four hundred, while now there are only one hundred and seventy-five residents.

At one time the streets of Perkinsville were always designated by names from west to east as Hamilton, Mulberry, Washington, Madison and Walnut street, while from north to south were Montgomery Center, and Water streets.

On the second Sunday in August, 1930, the beauiful Gentry Grove will be the scene of the seventh annual Perkinsville Home coming. The officers are Charles N. Branch, president; Beecher Willets, of Elwood, treasurer; and Mrs. Charm Carpenter, secretary. Mr. and Mrs. C. L. Gentry have always let social gatherings be held in their grove and it is much appreciated by community folk.

Jackson Township First Settlement

Jackson township was one of the first five townships to be organized in Madison county, being named after General Andrew Jackson. Zenas Beckwith and family arrived in 1820. Daniel Wise came here from Ross county, Ohio in the spring of the year 1822. In October of the same year Mr. Wise entered four hundred acres of land on the south side of the river. It is disputed whether or not Benoni Freil was the first settler in these parts.

Among the first settlers were two men, Mr. Kinser and Mr. Dewey. Kinser built a cabin one and one half miles up the river while Dewey had his cabin directly opposite Perkinsville. These men both moved on soon.

First Perkins Farm, Etc.

In the fall of 1825 William Perkins leased a tract from Daniel Wise and before Christmas, 1826, he had built a log cabin and he, his wife, and seven children had moved into it. Among other early settlers were Lemuel Auten, Joseph Lee, and Alexander and George McClintock.

William Perkins was evidently religious as he preached the first funeral sermon ever heard in this community, for a young man whose name is unknown. His death followed an accident in which he was hit by a falling tree while clearing land.

First Brick House

Robert Blair erected the first brick house in Jackson township on his farm opposite Perkinsville in 1827.

Bicknell Cole helped lay out Perkinsville in 1837. The town was named after James Athia Perkins who was born in 1808 and came to Perkinsville in the early 30's. Mr. Perkins was the maker of pottery.

The Pioneer Cabins

The log cabin of the pioneer was very crude, the size usually being 18x20 feet, story about 8 feet. The furniture in the cabin was usually made from poles and sections of logs. The settlers joined forces, helping each other build cabins and clear land. These cabins were built upon a tract of forty, eighty, or one hundred and sixty acres of heavily timbered land, with not a stick amiss, except what had been taken for buildings. The early settlers also had to contend with wild animal menaces. After the settler built his cabin, he planted a patch of corn, tobacco, and a garden. His possessions, few and simple, were usually a cow, a yoke of oxen, a hog, chickens, an axe, maul, wedge, auger, a plow, a gun, and a few household goods. The pioneers were great hunters.

Many were the hardships endured by the pioneer. Labor was hard and wages were low; John McClintock is said to have worked on the Fort Wayne road for 25 cents per day, and on the old canal wages were equally low.

Hospitality was unbounded and helpfulness was the common rule.

Some of the amusements of the people were, weddings, dances, fox chases, house raisings, log rollings, or apple and quilting bees.

Married While Barefoot

Mrs. Mary Gunn, age 85, relates the incident of the marriage of her cousin, Harriett Webb, and James Athia Perkins for whom Perkinsville was named, as happening when she was a child. The first wife of Mr. Perkins, a Miss Montgomery didn't live long. He afterwards courted Miss Webb and they decided to be married, but they set no date as they did not know when they could procure a circuit rider to marry them. Miss Webb lived with an uncle, William Webb. One day she was scrubbing, being barefooted and wearing her long full skirt pinned up from the hem to the waist, when James and the preacher arrived. This did not plague Harriet, she merely unpinned her dress, took her sunbonnet off, brushed her hair back and was married barefoot. It was not uncommon then to see men and women barefoot, as shoes were hard to get.

Anne Anderson and Jacob Zellars were married March 22, 1892, by Justice of the Peace Stephen Fisher, of Lapel, while sitting in a buggy.

CENTURY CELEBRATION

Local resident turns 100 years old with family, friends

Amanda Matlock
Staff writer

Pendleton

Taking a break from his weekly euchre game, Chester 'Chet' Morris is a man of big laughs and lots of stories- stories that he's had 100 years to collect.

Sitting with his son in his sun-lit apartment at Rawlins House and Fall Creek Retirement Village, Morris said he's been a lifelong resident of Madison County and that he moved to a farm outside of Pendleton when he was 16. The year was 1929, a year he remembers for reasons other than moving to town.

"That was the year of the crash," Morris said of the stock market panic that preceded the Great Depression, "I was 16 years old and helping a neighbor with chores. I don't know if that lady had money tied up in the market, but I do remember her being really upset."

Morris graduated from Pendleton High School in 1930. He said he remembers the old school, which was torn down a few years later, looking "like a castle."

He says one of his favorite things to do during his high school years was go to the movies and that he did so right in Pendleton at the old movie theater on State Street called The Roxy.

"We saw mostly westerns," Morris said.

In Memory

Our Father, Who art in heaven hallowed be Thy name, Thy kingdom come; Thy will be done on earth as it is in heaven. Give us this day our daily bread and forgive us our trespasses as we forgive those who trespass against us. And lead us not into temptation, but deliver us from evil. For the kingdom, the power and the glory are yours, now and forever. Amen.

JOHN W. JENKINS, Trustee of Clay Township, was born in Franklin County, Virginia, November 20, 1845. His parents were David C. and Mary (Feilder) Jenkins, also natives of Virginia, where they were married and resided until his (the father's) death, which occurred March 24, 1860. His widow subsequently moved to Texas where she still resides. They were the parents of eight children, viz.: Susan, James H., Nancy J., David C., Thomas A., Octavo, Sarah B., and John W. Our subject, the eldest member of the family, remained in Virginia until January, 1868, at which time he came to Miami County, Indiana, and located in Clay Township, where he has resided principally, since. He was married in Clay Township, this county, March 2, 1870, to Mary Morris, who was born in Franklin County, Virginia, June 14, 1849. In October, 1872, Mr. Jenkins, our subject, purchased the farm on which he now resides in Section 2, Clay Township, where he settled in the fall of 1873 and has resided since. He owns sixty acres of fine and well improved land. He has had born to him seven children, viz.: James B., died in infancy; John T., born October 13, 1871; Louisa A., born May 4, 1874; Melissa J., born December 23, 1876; Walter E., born October 4, 1880; Charles H., born October 11, 1883; and George W., born April 18, 1885. Mr. Jenkins was elected to the office of Trustee of Clay Township in 1886. He is a member of the Odd Fellows order and is an enterprising and highly esteemed man.

NG GAP BETWEEN JOHN AHAM'S HISTORY OF PERU D "THE LAST FIFTY YEARS"

aham's history of Peru and Miami County, which has in issues of the Peru Republican, and was published 1877, proved intensely interesting. Prior to the be- tepublican's reproduction of the history the Republican Omer Holman's fifty years in the newspaper business, volume entitled "Here we live over the Last Fifty began in 1884 and came down to Jan. 1, 1936. This s printed in book form and hundreds of copies were e desire to bridge the gap between the Graham and es by publishing news items taken from the Republi- 1877 to 1884, and below you will find these. When ompleted from the beginning of Peru till 1936—then be placed on sale. Watch for the announcement in , which doubtless will be made in January, 1937:

Planing Mills.

James Wampler, at the feeder dam, (south end of Benton street) has a mill at which all the work usually made at such an establishment is furnished.

David Wilkinson, on Eighth street, near Wabash railway, has another mill of the same kind with all the machinery for turning out all kinds of first class work.

Tow-Mill and Bagging Factory.

Messrs. John Coyle and Torry, are the proprietors of this factory on Flax Hill. It is located near the northwest corner of the town. It is one of the most beneficial industries carried on in the county, giving employment to women and children, and the market for farm production and flax straw. It has run all through the hard times profitably to its owners, and is stocked up for a largely increased seasons' business. Its manufactures are a necessity for marketing a cotton crop and the demand is always in proportion to the amount of that staple. This factory, in all its appointments, is first class.

Railroad Shops

The principal shops of the I. P. and C. R. R. are permanently located here. Cars and locomotives are made and repaired and steady employment is given to a large number of employees, who, as a general thing, own property and are citizens who will remain. John McKenna is master mechanic, George Young, foreman and George Deibert, foreman of the carpenter shop.

These shops occupy some three acres of ground, on the west side of town, and are built with all the modern improvements, in the most substantial manner.

The Wabash Road

also has repair shops here, on a small scale, which give employment to a few hands.

Peru and Indianapolis Railroad

William J. Holman, (great uncle to the present owner of the Peru Republican), of this county, was a projector of this road. He was the first to purpose the undertaking, and to him is due the credit of such a commencement as insured its completion. He made the preliminary survey and estimates and by figures, which are as proverbial for their veracity as is George and his little hatchet story proved that its construction was entirely within the resources of the people living along its line. Absurd and visionary as the project seemed to many and ridiculed as he was for advocating such a wild scheme Holman never wavered in his convictions or wearied in the task he had undertaken. The first meeting on the subject was held in Peru in 1847, at which a few enthusiastic railroad men subscribed about $500.000 in stock. With this capital General T. A. Morris, of Indianapolis, was employed to run the line and make estimates preliminary to commencing. Other meetings were held along the line, individuals subscribed to the stock, and, shortly after, all the counties between this and Marion, subscribed as counties. The work was commenced at the south end and the road was made after wonderful difficulties and the other exhaustion of financial resources, up to Noblesville, as a flat bar road. About this time, they got some mortgages on it, and got it into court, and the wreckers—came along and took the thing in and left the Hoosier railroad builders to mature at their leisure what they knew about railroading and what they were going to do about it. They got more mortgages on it, until it was completed to Peru in 1854, and finally sold out at such figures as to make it a first class paying investment.

Toledo-Wabash and Western

Along about 1852, an enthusiastic man at Toledo commenced writing up the importance of a Railroad from Toledo to St. Louis. He got up the first meeting at Logansport, which was largely attended from all the important points along the line. Stock was subscribed and such an impetus given to the work as secured its completion by the spring of 1856. But the poor projector, who had expended his talents and money in giving the thing a start was never heard of afterwards, except occasionally as a crazy man, and so it goes.

Chicago-Pittsburgh and St. Louis Railway was completed through the southern part of the county in 1856, through Xenia and Bunker Hill.

The Detroit and Eel River following Eel river from Logansport to Butler, was completed in 1872, and is in connection with the I. P. and C., which was finished from Peru to Michigan City in 1869.

These roads are all doing a heavy business in freight and passengers, and give our county all the facilities of the kind she needs.

Gravel Roads

Some years ago, the city of Peru, gave to four gravel road companies, $10.000 each to encourage and aid them in building good roads to the city. The money was not as well expended as it might have been, but still it made the roads much better. The Peru and Strawtown, Peru and Xenia, Peru and Chili, Peru and Paw Paw, were the roads that received this aid. The Peru-Mexico, the best of our roads was made before and received none of this money.

The War Volunteers

In the patriotic duty of furnishing troops of the call of the general government, Miami County will compare favorably with any other in the United States. When the Mexican war required volunteers, our county was in its infancy, but she promptly furnished a company which went to the fields under the command of the late Col. J. M. Wilson.

In the war of the rebellion, we were represented in 34 regiments. In the first year, we had a thousand men in the service, and up to the close, one thousand nine hundred and forty, as shown by the muster rolls exclusive of 200 volunteers raised to repel the Morgan raid. Of a total enrollment of 3,317 subject to military duty over one-half were in the field. They participated in nearly all of the battles in which Indiana soldiers were engaged during the war.

In addition to this force from the field, our people at home at once, effectually organized to supply sanitary stores to the hospitals, and to take care of soldiers' families. Their contributions for these purposes amounted to over three hundred thousand dollars.

BARNES, JOHN [Macy, Allen Township, Miami County]
BIOGRAPHY
Dr. John Barnes, of Macy, was born in Harrison County, Va., August 29, 1815. He was the third son born to William and Elizabeth (Hull) Barnes, natives of Pennsylvania and New Jersey, respectively; the former of German and the latter of English descent. When our subject was eleven years old his parents came to Ohio and located in Richland County, where his youth was spent working upon his father's farm. At the age of twenty-two he began the study of medicine with Dr. J. C. Howard, of Mansfield, Ohio. After three years of preparation he entered upon the practice of medicine with Dr. John Palmer, of Leesville, Ohio. In 1845 he came to this State and located near Somerset, Wabash County, where he continued to practice his profession. He came to this county and located at Santa Fe in 1847. In the spring of 1865 he removed to Gilead, this county, and in November, 1879, he located at Macy. September 25, 1844, he was married to Nancy Bebout, a native of Richland County, Ohio, born December 29, 1823. She was the daughter of Peter and Nancy (Kelly) Bebout, both natives of Pennsylvania, the former of French and the latter of Irish descent. Mr. and Mrs. Barnes are the parents of seven children. Their names are Abram, Elizabeth, Sarah, Nathaniel, Martha A., Mary E. and Arthur W. Of these Sarah, Nathaniel and Mary E. are deceased--the first two in infancy and the last at the age of nineteen. Dr. and Mrs. Barnes are members of the M. E. Church. In politics Mr. Barnes is a Republican. He is now comfortably located in Macy, where he and his wife are spending their old days in a pleasant, happy way. He has been in the practice of medicine over forty years, and as such he has been very successful. His success is evidenced by the fact that while a resident of Wabash County he was in active practice three years without losing a single case. He has now resided in Miami County nearly forty years, and is one of its most highly respected citizens.

ROBERT A. MORRIS. Among any community's most important interests are those which deal with its financial affairs, for financial stability must be the foundation stone upon which all great enterprises are erected. The men who control and conserve the money of corporation or country, or of private individual, must of necessity possess many qualities not requisite in the ordinary citizen, and among these, high commercial integrity, poise, judgment, exceptional financial ability and foresight may be mentioned. They must possess the public confidence, for often through their wisdom, sagacity and foresight panics that have threatened the government have been averted. A citizen whose entire training has been along the line of finance, and who has been prominently connected with the banking interests of Grant county for a number of years is Robert A. Morris, president of the Fairmount State Bank.

Mr. Morris comes of old Southern stock, his paternal great- grandfather having been born in North Carolina of Welsh and Scotch parentage. The family came to the American Colonies prior to the outbreak of the Revolutionary War, and belonged to the Hicks Quaker stock, Mr. Morris himself being a member of the Society of Friends. He was married in North Carolina, and in 1823 came north with the Quakers who left the South because of their opposition to the practice of slavery prevalent in the Old North State, making a settlement near Richmond, Indiana, where they became pioneers. Mr. Morris was a miller by vocation and established one of the first mills in Wayne county, continuing to spend the remainder of his career there and dying in advanced years, as did also his wife. Among their children was George Morris, the grandfather of Robert A. Morris.

George Morris first saw the light of day in North Carolina, and was still a small boy when he accompanied his parents in their journey overland to the wilderness of Indiana. He grew up to sturdy manhood, was reared to agriculture pursuits and followed farming for some time, but subsequently became an early merchant near Richmond. He was married in that city to Miss Rhoda Frampton, who was born a Quakeress and a member of an old Maryland family of Friends. Mr. Morris passed away near Richmond when but thirty-six years of age, while his wife survived him for a long period, dying at the advanced age of ninety years.

The second son and child of the five children of his parents, Aaron Morris, the father of Robert A. Morris, was born near Richmond, Wayne county, Indiana, November 21, 1834. There he was educated, reared and spent his entire life, and there his death occurred February 15, 1907. His brothers and sisters are all still living, are married, and have homes of their own. In his youth Aaron Morris learned the trade of wagon-maker and this he followed with a reasonable amount of success until 1865,when he was married. At that time he became one of the organizers and partners of the Hoosier Drill Company, of which he continued as manager and a director until 1876, when he disposed of interests and became an official member of a reaper and mower concern. With this venture he continued until 1888, when he embarked in the banking business, at Pendleton, Indiana, where he became the founder of the Pendleton Banking Company. Of this institution he became president, and so remained for a number of years, and it is still in the family name, being now conducted by William F. Morris, a son of its

Of this institution he became president, and so remained for a number of years, and it is still in the family name, being now conducted by William F. Morris, a son of its founder. In 1902 Mr. Morris came to Fairmount, Indiana, and here established the Fairmount State Bank, with which he was connected in an official capacity up to the time of his death. Mr. Morris was an excellent business man and financier, and was widely known in banking circles, especially in Wayne, Grant and Madison counties. He bore a high reputation for business integrity and honorable dealing, and in his private life was known to be a man of the utmost probity. He was a stanch Republican throughout his life, but was content with his business interests and never sought personal preferment as a candidate. Throughout his life he was a Quaker, and lived up to the teachings of his faith. While residing in Wayne county, near Pendleton, Mr. Morris was married in 1865, to Miss Martha Thomas, who was born, reared and educated in Madison county, and was a daughter of Louis and Percilla (Moore) Thomas, natives of Pennsylvania, who came from Pennsylvania and Chester county in that state at an early date, and located in Madison county. There they spent their lives in agricultural pursuits, in the community in which there were so many members of the Friends church, to which faith they belonged. Mrs. Aaron Morris was one of a large family, the most of whom are still living, and she still survives her husband and makes her home in Madison county, being seventy-five years of age. Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Morris, namely: William F., manager of the State Bank of Pendleton, who married Lyle Zeublin and has two daughters—Mildred and Eleanor; Luella, who is the wife of Elwood Burchell, of Port Chester, New York, a manufacturer of bolts and nuts, who has three sons—Richard, Morris and Robert; Robert A.; and Elizabeth, who is the wife of Frederick Lantz, a merchant of Pendleton, and has one daughter, Deborah. Robert A. Morris was born near Richmond, Wayne county, Indiana, May 16, 1877. He received his early education in the schools of Richmond, following which he attended Earlham College, and then embarked in the banking business with his father at Pendleton. There he remained from 1895 until 1902, when, having thoroughly mastered the details of banking, he came to Fairmount to take charge of the Fairmount State Bank, and of this he has since had control. This institution has a capital and surplus of $32.000, and is known as one of the solid and substantial financial houses of Grant county. Under the management of Mr. Morris it has enjoyed at steady and continued growth, and has gained the complete confidence of the public.

In 1903 Mr. Morris was married in Fairmount to Miss Artie Suman, who was born, reared and educated in Fairmount, where her people were early settlers. They are now residents of North Dakota, where they are engaged in farming. Mr. and Mrs. Morris have one son: William S., born January 2, 1913. In his political preferences Mr. Morris is a Republican.

founder. In 1902 Mr. Morris came to Fairmount, Indiana, and here established the Fairmount State Bank, with which he was connected in an official capacity up to the time of his death. Mr. Morris was an excellent business man and financier, and was widely known in banking circles, especially in Wayne, Grant and Madison counties. He bore a high reputation for business integrity and honorable dealing, and in his private life was known to be a man of the utmost probity. He was a stanch Republican throughout his life, but was content with his business interests and never sought personal preferment as a candidate. Throughout his life he was a Quaker, and lived up to the teachings of his faith. While residing in Wayne county, near Pendleton, Mr. Morris was married in 1865, to Miss Martha Thomas, who was born, reared and educated in Madison county, and was a daughter of Lewis and Percilla (Moore) Thomas, natives of Pennsylvania, who came from Pennsylvania and Chester county in that state at an early date, and located in Madison county. There they spent their lives in agricultural pursuits, in the community in which there were so many members of the Friends church, to which faith they belonged. Mrs. Aaron Morris was one of a large family, the most of whom are still living, and she still survives her husband and makes her home in Madison county, being seventy-five years of age. Four children were born to Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Morris, namely: William F., manager of the State Bank of Pendleton, who married Lydia Zenbin and has two daughters—Mildred and Eleanor; Luella, who is the wife of Elwood Burchell, of Port Chester, New York, a manufacturer of bolts and nuts, who has three sons—Richard, Morris and Robert; Robert A.; and Elizabeth, who is the wife of Frederick Lantz, a merchant of Pendleton, and has one daughter, Deborah. Robert A. Morris was born near Richmond, Wayne county, Indiana, May 16, 1877. He received his early education in the schools of Richmond, following which he attended Earlham College, and then embarked in the banking business with his father at Pendleton. There he remained from 1895 until 1902, when, having thoroughly mastered the details of banking, he came to Fairmount to take charge of the Fairmount State Bank, and of this he has since had control. This institution has a capital and surplus of $82,000, and is known as one of the solid and substantial financial houses of Grant county. Under the management of Mr. Morris it has enjoyed at steady and continued growth, and has gained the complete confidence of the public.

In 1903 Mr. Morris was married in Fairmount to Miss Artie Suman, who was born reared and educated in Fairmount, where her people were early settlers. They are now residents of North Dakota, where they are engaged in farming. Mr. and Mrs. Morris have one son: William S., born January 2, 1913. In his political preferences Mr. Morris is a Republican.

HORRIBLE DISCOVERY

TEN WEEK'S OLD BABY DIES IN ITS MOTHER'S ARMS

5-19-05

While Enroute to Spend a Day of Pleasure With Relatives.

On Saturday Afternoon Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris, of this city, started to Frankton, to spend Sunday with relatives, taking their little ten weeks old baby along, making the trip overland in a road wagon.

When they had gone a couple of miles the little one began to cry dreadfully, and the mother thinking the child was hungry, let it nurse when it became quiet and apparently went to sleep.

They drove on to Frankton thinking en route what a pleasant day they would spend with relatives and friends, but when they arrived at their destination the mother started to climb out of the conveyance when she noticed a deathly pallor on the face of the little one. A closer examination disclosed the fact that the child was cold in death. The mother was prostrated over the horrible discovery. Undertaker Smith of this city was telephoned, who went down and brought the little body back to Elwood, where it was prepared for burial.

The funeral occurred this afternoon, and the little body was interred in the city cemetery.

The cause of death is given as congestion.

The little one had probably died shortly after it nursed its mother's breast, and the parent had clasped a corpse during the next five miles of her drive, instead of the sprightly baby, with which she had left her home a short time before.

Short services will be conducted over the body of Mr. Day tomorrow morning by Rev. Julian. The body will be shipped on to Goldsmith where the funeral will take place tomorrow afternoon at 2:30. 5-5-05

Card of Thanks. 5-6-05

We desire to thank our friends and neighbors who graciously assisted us in our hour of need and especially the Lederer-Hene Co., for their kind gifts.

MRS. SAM DAY AND CHILDREN.

Found in Dying Condition.

Elwood, Ind., May 6.—Samuel Day, aged fifty-two years, was found in a dying condition in the basement of the building occupied by the Sebern bicycle store. He had taken carbolic acid. Day helped build the Apollo polo rink here, and had since been in the employ of Sebern. Monday the former polo manager left the city under mysterious circumstances, and Day had since been despondent. 5-6-05

Mrs. Fox Dead.

5-18-05

Word has been received from Joe Fox announcing the death of his wife, which occurred Sunday evening at their home in Lowel, Mass. The deceased has been a sufferer from cancer for the past three years and last April when she returned home with her husband after the polo season her many friends had little hope of ever again seeing her alive. She was well liked by all who knew her and was a favorite with the polo managers and players. The funeral will occur Wednesday.

PIONEER CITIZEN DEAD.

Andrew Hinshaw, of Windfall, Buried By the Odd Fellows.

5-3-05

Sunday last at 11:30, Andrew Hinshaw died at his home near Windfall, at the age of 66 years, his death being due to the infirmities incident to advanced years. He had been in poor health for three years and during a greater portion of the time was confined to his bed.

The deceased had been a resident of the county for about forty years and during the last thirty years he had resided in this section. About thirty years ago he was united in marriage to Miss Mary Cooper. She died about five years after their marriage, leaving two children, a son and a daughter.

The son, Glen, is now in Paris, where he has gained a great deal of distinction as an artist. The daughter is Mrs. Thomas Carter, at Elwood. A few years later Mr. Hinshaw was united in marriage to Mrs. Mary Lewellyn, she dying a few years after their marriage. About seventeen years ago, he was married to the wife who survives him. There are no children from the last two marriages.

The funeral services were conducted Tuesday at the M. E. church, at 2 o'clock, Rev. Hammer Ellis, officiating. He was a member of the I. O. O. F. and that order had charge of the burial.

PLEASURE TRIP HAD SAD END

Little Child Died on Journey to Frankton.

The visit of Mr. and Mrs. Henry Morris to relatives at Frankton yesterday had an unhappy ending. Upon their arrival at that place, they found their little two months' old babe had died during the journey from Elwood in a vehicle.

Mr. Morris, who is a tinplate worker, living at South B and Twenty-third streets, took his wife, three year old son and wint to visit at Frankton. It was the first trip for the mother and babe and the party left home in high spirits. The little one was apparently well at that time.

Arriving at Frankton, the baby was unwrapped for the admiring relatives to feast their eyes upon and all were horrified to find that the little life had flown. The coroner was called from Anderson and conducted an investigation.

Funeral Director W. H. Smith was notified and sent a cab to Frankton to bring the body and the bereaved parents back to this city. The funeral services took place at the home this afternoon and the interment was in the city cemetery.

Dear Dr. Anson,

In your book The Miami Indians reference was made

(1) to "Roll of Miami Indians of Indiana, June 22, 1895 - prepared by M.D. Shelby", from a photostatic copy of the Annuity Pay-Roll Book in my possession. (Footnote #25 p 280). Shelby included age, sex and children of the families that he polled.

(2) Footnote #24, p 279 "Census list of the Miami Indians in Indiana and elsewhere prepared by Thad Butler, Sept. 10, 1881.

My interest is in Indians residing in Madison County, Indiana, with emphasis on Summitville Village area regardless of tribe (Miami, Seneca, etc.) between 1878 and 1885.

I am trying to trace my father's Indian Ancestry, and any census data on Indians during that period would be appreciated.

Thank you for your kind attention to my request.

Yours truly,

Henry S. Johnson, Ph.D.

P.S. Enclosed is ten ($10.00) dollars to cover the cost of any photostatic work, mailing costs, etc. If more cost is entailed, I shall be happy to reimburse you.

Dear Mrs. Leedom:

Thank you for the letter of Nov. 7. I was very surprised to hear from you rather than from Bert Anson.

Since my correspondence to Mr. Anson, I have obtained more specific information concerning my genealogical search on my grandmother. However, what I do have is still vague and ambiguous. I have also, in the meantime (since my letter to Anson) located several blood relatives of the Morris family in and around Summitville, unfortunately, these relatives do not know or do not have any relevant information about my grandmother or her parents.

"Rumor" has it, that my grandmother, the second wife of Henry Ringer Morris was a pretty, Indian girl. Is this true? If so what tribe? Her name was Launa Ellen Marsh. She was born in Summitville (Feb. 1850) and died in Orlando, Okla. (Nov. 1893) but is not buried in Orlando. Where is she buried?

Her father's name was James D. Marsh (b. 1821, Ohio) - Mother Elizabeth (maiden name, unknown) born 1826 in Summitville, Indiana. We have checked Van Buren Co. census data which was a dead end.

I feel my grandmother's mother (Elizabeth) has the Indian heritage. Was she a Miami Indian of the Wea tribe which had a reservation around Summitville? Perhaps she was a Delaware Indian (your letter)? How does one check one's Indian ancestry?

I am only interested in tracking my grandmother's family history. I have lots of data on the Morris family. Here, in summary is the Morris tree Robert Morris (1769-from England) -> Enoch Morris (1789-1850) --> Nicholas Morris (1822-1895) --> Henry Ringer Morris (1849-1932) --> Henry Lawrence Morris (Johnson -- (1882-1937) ---> Henry Sioux (Morris) Johnson (me) (1928 -).

I have numerous genealogical charts of the Morris family tree - branching out from the above "core" roots.

Your assistance must be directed on the Indian (?) grandmother's family tree. Before you begin your search, please indicate in writing your interest, direction and capabilities.

Thank you for your early response to my inquiries.

Yours truly,

Henry S. Johnson

Dear Ms.Dittlinger:

Thank you very much for your response. I was overwhelmed by the two sheets of information you sent me! This is the first breakthrough I have had in three years. The places I wrote to had very little information, like everything did not get recorded till the 1900's. I appreciated the cemetery record you sent me. Martha M.Morris is supposed to be the first wife of Henry Ringer Morris. According to the cemetery record she died in 1876 at the age of 53 yrs.6m.26d.and do you know that her husband's age in 1876 was 27! Now I am not sure at all. Now I am sure that Laura Ellen Marsh was one of his wives and you had them listed as follows:

Morris,Henry R. and Laura Marsh
Issued marriage license Feb.15,1878
Democrat Standard

Also, Morris, Robert A. and Sarah E. Simmonds
Issued marriage license
Anderson Democrat Jan 25,1878

He is the son of Nicholas Morris and Elizabeth Ringer.

I really would appreciate a photocopy of their marriage record if possible. It would make my day. Enclosed is a check to cover the cost of the documents and a self addressed envelope for your convenience. Thank you for your consideration in the matter. Have a nice day.

Sincerly yours,
June P. Hortel

Yes, that all agrees with what I have, but I am trying to find info on the children of Robert and Mary, plus do you know if Robert was married a second time to Mary Parkhurst? The lawsuit filed in Butler Co. by mary Morris does not sound like it was his first wife, as the case was all against the children for her dower rights. Did you have Robert's parents Robert and Elizabeth Morris, and do you have any info on Mary's parents?

Thank you for the information on Elizabeth Ringer Morris. I am also a decendent of Enoch and Nancy Closser Morris. Enoch's father was a Robert Morris, I believe. He was born in England. I don' have a birthdate or place of birth. He was married in 1778 at St Michaels Zion Church on 12 April 1778 to a Mary Crawley. They had 10 children including enoch who was born 12 Aug 1789. Does this match you data? any other info on Robert and Mary Crawley would be of interest.

to the sport," Hoffman said. "I was not mentally ready for it at all. The (early)-morning practices were a huge shock to me."

Hoffman managed to keep himself motivated by striving to meet time standards for various competitions. He said he really got serious about the sport midway through his sophomore year.

His efforts paid off with three first-place finishes in the Olympic Conference meet. One week later, however, a twisted knee sustained in a P.E. class dodgeball game effectively ended his season.

Hoffman re-entered the water 2 1/2 weeks after the injury, but was unable to swim the breaststroke and IM, his best events. He swam in a freestyle event in the sectional and failed to advance out of the preliminaries.

"As a freshman, he wasn't the best swimmer on the team, but he was a solid one," longtime Highland coach Dave Renz said. "He started to become a leader last year. He trained hard in the spring and summer (while recovering from the injury)."

"As a freshman, he was a solid (swimmer). He started to become a leader last year."

Highland coach Dave Renz

He returned at full strength as a junior, and led a Highland team that finished 6-4 in duals. Hoffman aims to improve upon that record this season.

"We'd like to have an undefeated (dual meet) season," Hoffman said.

As for Renz, he invites Hoffman to break the breaststroke record he so covets.

"He'll be rewriting that," Renz said, nudging his head toward the list of records on the pool area wall. "He can do as much of that as he wants."

Renz was named Coach of the Year. Hoffman's 200 medley relay teammates, Stephenson, Zach Weston and Hunter Hoffman were named to the All-Area Team. Anderson's Jordan Eddy, Andrew Gray, Matt Gray, Zach Heider and Seth Morris also were named to the All-Area squad along with Pendleton Heights' Jacob Childress.

Highland junior advanced to State Meet in two events

By ADAM WIRE

A handful of Highland High School swimmers made their way into the pool Wednesday after school. Swimmers who take off time are usually swimmers who don't shave off time.

Colin Hoffman, a Scots junior and a state qualifier in two events, was sitting poolside in gym clothes, with no intention of jumping in the water. He could be forgiven for that. He's taking the spring off from swimming, for what he said was the first time in about four years.

Capsules for all 10 All-Area Team swimmers and The Coach of the Year / B2

He's earned the rest. Hoffman qualified for the state meet individually in the 100-yard breaststroke, and as part of Highland's 200 medley relay. He won Olympic Conference championships in the breaststroke and the 200 individual medley while swimming on two OAC champion relays.

Hoffman has been named The Herald Bulletin Boys Swimmer of the Year for those accomplishments.

For all of Hoffman's in-season achievements, he's most proud of how he fared in a meet shortly after the prep season ended. He set a personal best time in the breaststroke of 59.85 seconds in the senior state meet at Brownsburg a couple of weeks after the IHSAA state finals. That time would have broken the school record had it occurred in a Highland meet. His state finals [illegible]

Marie Morris

By Emma Bowen Meyer
For The Herald Bulletin

ANDERSON

Although Marie Morris, provost at Anderson University, has been a local resident only since 2009, her roots have grown to be very deep at a rapid pace. Drawn from Harrisonburg, Va., by the caliber of faculty at the school, she operates as the CEO of the university.

"In the short amount of time we've been here, I've felt more a part of this community than all the years in Harrisonburg," she said. "I love how people here are invested in this community. This is a good place to be."

Morris is deeply involved in the institutional strategic planning of the university and facilitating connections within the community. She is also the chief academic officer and is only the sixth person to fill this role.

"I love the diversity of activities and bringing people together to make good things happen for students and the community," said Morris. "That's what brings me joy. It is so energizing to hear about different projects where students can work with community partners to meet the needs of people."

Her service positions include: Hesston College Trustee, Chief Academic Officers Commission, Indiana Campus Compact Board, Community Hospital Anderson Board, Quality of Care Committee Chair, and the Higher Learning Commission.

She is married to Keith, a "professional" volunteer, who works closely with the food pantry at Park Place Church of God and Second Harvest Food Bank. They have two grown children, Jesse and Alex.

"We are pleased to make this nomination of Dr. Marie Morris," said Dr. James L. Edwards, president of Anderson University. "Dr. Morris brings outstanding experience to her assignment which is comprehensive within the life of the university. Dr. Morris is highly regarded on campus, the community of Anderson and in the wider academic community."

"Being nominated is very humbling," said Morris. "There are so many more women and men in the community that contribute so much. I still feel like I'm a newcomer. But when we first moved here, we walked down the street and I said that I feel like we've been called to come to Anderson and I want to make it a better place."

ore Americans tap retirement accounts to . . .

Make ends meet

The Associated Press

Trent Charlton knew the risks when he borrowed $10,000 from his 401(k) and cut his retirement savings in half.

But Charlton, a 40-year-old account executive at an Irvine, Calif., trucking company, said he had little choice because he and his wife could not keep up with monthly expenses after American Express reduced the limits on three credit cards.

As home prices fall and banks tighten lending standards, more people are doing the same thing: raiding their retirement savings just to get by and spending their nest eggs to gas up SUVs, pay mortgages or put food on the table.

But dipping into 401(k) accounts can carry risks because defaulted loans and hardship withdrawals are taxed as income and are subject to a 10 percent penalty if the worker is under 59 1/2 years old. That means if the trend grows, many Americans will risk coming up short on retirement savings or may have to rely on an overburdened Social Security system.

"People who take out a loan or withdrawal are adding to a looming retirement crisis over the next 30 to 40 years," said Eric Levy, a partner at global consulting firm Mercer. "And what implications will that have (for) our economy?"

Some of the nation's largest retirement plan administrators, such as Great-West Retirement Services and Fidelity Investments, are seeing double-digit spikes in hardship withdrawals and increases in loan requests, a sharp departure from levels that traditionally varied little.

Administrators say consumers are using retirement savings to pay for unmanageable mortgages, maxed-out credit cards, and costly utilities and groceries.

Charlton and his wife used the retirement money and $7,000 from savings to pay down their credit card debt. They also cut monthly expenses by pawning a diamond ring and selling camera equipment he owed money on. And he's looking for someone to take over his $550 monthly payment on a gray BMW 335i he leased last April.

Charlton said his goal is to pay off the 401(k) loan in two years. He has not decided whether he will contribute to the plan during that time.

"I made the best decision I could," he said "I keep hearing about bankrupting your future retirement. But I feel like it's far enough away that I'll be able to save up enough."

Charlton's predicament arose as lenders are taking steps to rein in credit because more consumers are missing payments on mortgages, credit cards and loans. Borrowers are finding their credit limits suddenly reduced and low-interest cards hard to come by. Mortgage lenders have also reduced limits on home-equity lines of credit.

Meanwhile, jobs are harder to find, and consumers are getting pinched by higher food and fuel prices.

Consumers who tap their retirement accounts can take a loan from their 401(k) accounts worth up to $50,000, or 50 percent of the amount invested, whichever is less. There are no tax consequences for a loan in good standing. But if a borrower defaults, the loan is considered a withdrawal and subject to the same tax penalties.

If Charlton repays his loan and continues making contributions, his account balance at 62 will be nearly the same as if he had not borrowed, according to projections by Alicia Munnell, director of The Center for Retirement Research at Boston College.

But if he repays the loan and suspends contributions for five years, his final account balance would fall by 18 percent.

Rebuild your credit after bankruptcy

McClatchy-Tribune News Service

DALLAS — There is life after bankruptcy, even though your credit is shot.

In fact, many creditors view you as a prime customer after bankruptcy because you're getting a fresh financial start.

But don't be fooled. You still have to rebuild your credit, and it will take time, some hard work and major changes in your lifestyle to do it right.

"It's coming to terms with living within your means," said John Ventura, a Houston bankruptcy attorney and author of "The Credit Repair Handbook."

"Living within your means is spending less money than you bring in and you don't obligate yourself for more than you can really afford to pay," said Ventura. "You don't carry a lot of credit; you save."

If you're coming out of bankruptcy, make it an opportunity to reinvent your financial life.

Make rebuilding your credit a priority because, like it or not, your credit history is seen by the business world as a reflection of your character.

Companies that insure cars and homes are checking your credit to see how great a risk you are and set your premiums according to that level. They argue that a poor credit record is a predictor of how many claims you will file and an indicator of personal responsibility.

Many employers — particularly those hiring for sensitive financial positions — will check your credit before hiring you.

After a bankruptcy, figure out how you got into financial trouble in the first place.

Was it simply that you didn't live within your means? Or did you lose your job or suffer a serious illness?

"It doesn't matter what the crisis is," said Todd Mark, vice president of education at Consumer Credit Counseling Service of Greater Dallas. "It was their inability to cope with the unplanned that threw them into a financial crisis."

First, develop a spending plan to track your spending, so you know where your dollars are going. To make saving easier, sign up for automatic saving, where you have a fixed amount automatically deposited in your savings account each month.

Make sure that you pay all your bills on time, not just credit cards. Utilities, landlords and cable companies are also creditors.

Use consumer credit as little as possible and only as a last resort. This doesn't include a mortgage or perhaps a car loan.

Don't be surprised if after bankruptcy you're inundated with credit offers because creditors know that you're starting with a clean slate, and they're eager to get you back into the credit world.

Don't be tempted.

Of course, in today's credit-driven society, it's hard not to have a credit card. You need one to rent a car and reserve a hotel room.

One way to re-establish your credit is by obtaining what's called a secured credit card. A secured card requires a cash collateral deposit that becomes the credit line for that account.

For example, if you put $500 in the account, you can charge up to $500. You may be able to add to the deposit to add more credit, or sometimes a bank will reward you for good payment and add to your credit line without requesting additional deposits.

But before applying for a secured card, ask these questions:

- What kind of charges will there be? Look for a card that doesn't charge an application fee.
- How much money do you have to deposit?
- Does the card issuer report your credit history to the credit bureaus? That's important because you want a solid record of on-time payments.

You're entitled to a free copy of your credit report once every 12 months from each of the three national credit bureaus — Experian, Equifax and TransUnion.

Under those circumstances, if you dispute an item on your credit report, the credit bureau has to complete its investigation in no later than 45 days.

The length of the dispute process is different if you've been denied credit and dispute an item in your report. In that case, credit bureaus must investigate the disputed items within 30 days unless they consider your dispute "frivolous," according to the Federal Trade Commission.

The 30-day period may be extended by 15 days if the credit bureau receives information that's relevant to its investigation.

Make sure there aren't accounts that don't belong to you and that accounts you've closed aren't being reported as open.

Check to see that all loans that have been paid in full are noted as such on your credit reports and show that they are no longer open credit lines.

"After a bankruptcy, wait about two months after receiving your discharge before contacting the agencies (credit bureaus) to give them a chance to update your information," said Carolyn Chesnutt, an Addison, Texas, bankruptcy attorney.

Write a letter to each credit bureau and include copies of court documents showing that your debts were discharged in the bankruptcy.

Ask the credit bureau to update your credit report to reflect the discharge information.

"Most bankruptcies are allowed to be reported on your credit report up to 10 years, but you can still re-establish and strengthen your credit rating by careful diligent actions," Chesnutt said.

You have the right to include a paragraph in your credit report explaining the circumstances that led to your bankruptcy.

"This is a good idea," Chesnutt said, "as it will show potential lenders that you are not really a criminal or a deadbeat, but a responsible and hardworking individual who suffered an unavoidable economic setback."

Avoid offers from companies to repair your credit.

They claim that they do such things as "erase your bad credit," "create a new credit identity — legally," or that they can "remove bankruptcies, judgments, liens, and bad loans from your credit file forever."

Don't buy it.

"No one can legally remove accurate and timely negative information from a credit report," says the Federal Trade Commission. "Everything a credit repair clinic can do for you legally, you can do for yourself at little or no cost."

There are no shortcuts to rebuilding your credit.

Only time, conscious effort and a strong commitment will do the job.

at a loss over this time period. To us, the fact that all groups are down speaks volumes about what the underlying current to this market, which is much more related to access to capital and the unwinding of leverage than it is a potential recession.

Bonds

While stocks grab most of our attention, bonds are arguably one of the more interesting over this time frame. We say that because no general score can be assigned to "bonds." If you are a U.S. treasury bond, you have done very, very well. If you are about any other kind of bond, you have not. The total size attributed to U.S. treasuries is actually a pretty small piece of the overall bond market. The bigger players are mortgage, corporate and municipal bonds. Each of these bigger players has been very much avoided for reasons that are each worthy of their own article. In summary, treasury owners will have been happy with their performance. But owners of other types of bonds that haven't seen the value of their portfolio for a while could be in for a big surprise if they are expecting the same gains seen from treasuries.

Commodities

Here's the ticket. The commodities group is really starting to gain traction in the media for its hot performance as of late. If you are about anything that represents a physical stock – be it oil, gold, or agricultural grains – you have shot the lights out. Some good, solid fundamental reasons exist for this extraordinary performance. What we won't know, without a further passage of time, is just how large of a role speculation has played. No doubt the flight from all the other assets has increased competition for this much smaller area of investment. As a result, prices are going crazy as these investors compete with each other for ownership. Whether price has gotten ahead of fundamentals or not, commodities have brought the most gain by a long shot.

Real Estate

This is the most cut-and-dry group. In some regards, the weakness in real estate has been the underlying reason for the other weaknesses in the overall financial market. Mainly, the housing market weakness has reduced the value of the collateral for mortgage bonds, which has initiated the aforementioned financial sector write downs. The performance of the Dow Jones Real Estate sector has underperformed the S&P 500 over this time. Fundamentally speaking, the arguments that the sector is overvalued are stronger than the counter-arguments that the sell-off has moved real estate to attractive valuations.

Cash

Given the fact that stocks and real estate have been horrible, bonds have been split, and the booming commodities are usually a very small piece of the overall allocation; cash sounds like a candidate for a high grade. The investment returns for cash are simply the interest paid on the deposit (no capital gain or loss), though a subtraction from this and all the above groups should always be made for inflation to make the return in real terms. What we have to consider for cash and equivalents though is the path of interest rates taken. While the results have left this a coveted allocation piece – the yields are dropping like crazy.

If the Federal Reserve follows the path expected on interest rates, money market investors will be sitting on money yielding next to nothing. Looking forward, low yields for cash should move investors off of that money and into at least one of the other categories. This is no small side point given the fact that we are nearing $3.5 trillion dollars invested in money market funds alone. We certainly have no guarantee that this will happen or which main group will be the beneficiary. But, the FEG allocation team certainly has their ideas and suggests you do the same as we look forward to who will get the best marks on the next scorecard.

ANDERSON

Although Marie Morris, provost at Anderson University, has been a local resident only since 2009, her roots have grown to be very deep at a rapid pace. Drawn from Harrisonburg, Va., by the caliber of faculty at the school, she operates as the CEO of the university.

"In the short amount of time we've been here, I've felt more a part of this community than all the years in Harrisonburg," she said. "I love how people here are invested in this community. This is a good place to be."

Morris is deeply involved in the institutional strategic planning of the university and facilitating connections within the community. She is also the chief academic officer and is only the sixth person to fill this role.

"I love the diversity of activities and bringing people together to make good things happen for students and the community," said Morris. "That's what brings me joy. It is so energizing to hear about different projects where students can work with community partners to meet the needs of people."

Her service positions include: Hesston College Trustee, Chief Academic Officers Commission, Indiana Campus Compact Board, Community Hospital Anderson Board, Quality of Care Committee Chair, and the Higher Learning Commission.

She is married to Keith, a "professional" volunteer, who works closely with the food pantry at Park Place Church of God and Second Harvest Food Bank. They have two grown children, Jesse and Alex.

"We are pleased to make this nomination of Dr. Marie Morris," said Dr. James L. Edwards, president of Anderson University. "Dr. Morris brings outstanding experience to her assignment which is comprehensive within the life of the university. Dr. Morris is highly regarded on campus, the community of Anderson and in the wider academic community."

"Being nominated is very humbling," said Morris. "There are so many more women and men in the community that contribute so much. I still feel like I'm a newcomer. But when we first moved here, we walked down the street and I said that I feel like we've been called to come to Anderson and I want to make it a better place."

Lynn Staley

ANDERSON

For Lynn Staley, her Athena Award nomination is a major honor in a life full of honors.

"I'm very humbled and thankful to be a nominee," she said. "Looking at past winners and nominees, and to know I'm thought of that way is a great source of pride to me."

Staley, now superintendent of Liberty Christian Schools, has lived a professional life of service and teaching, focused on early childhood education. Most recently, she served as a professor of early-childhood education at Ball State, where she was listed in 2005 in the "Who's Who Among America's Teachers."

She was a Fulbright Senior Scholar and went on to a myriad of accomplishments and honors including serving as the chair of UNICEF's working group on education, serving as a consultant to the United Nations on education, and co-founding Heritage College in Kenya, an institute to train early-childhood education teachers.

She is the author of many articles and books, including "Nurturing Positive Behaviors in the Classroom," an anti-bullying book used in many communities across the nation.

Staley was nominated for the Athena Award by Stephanie Moran. "Lynn is an esteemed childhood education specialist and could serve anywhere," Moran said. "But she loves Anderson and this area. Even though she heads up the Liberty Christian Schools, she advocates for all local students from all backgrounds."

Staley was instrumental in developing the local Goodwill Excel Center that conducts research and support on the needs of students with complex challenges as they continue their education.

"At Liberty Christian, we believe in the influence of Jesus Christ and the importance of preparing our students at an early age for the future," Staley said. "For all students, a quality early education is the key. And our society can't rest until that happens."

Staley and husband Chuck have one daughter and like to attend Liberty Christian sporting events in their spare time.

"I'm not sure we really have a lot of spare time," Staley said. "But when we do, we love to watch our students compete."

discarded live Christmas trees for about 15 years, he said. Some years, they have enough to keep the animals entertained through June, but other years are a little more lean in tree donations.

"We're hoping this is going to be a good year for Christmas trees," Taft said.

Currently, the rescue center has about 130 to 140 rescues, ranging from tigers, lions, cougars and leopards to foxes and wolves.

The center is a 501c3 nonprofit that provides a permanent home for exotic felines and other animals that have been abused, abandoned or for some reason have nowhere to live out their lives; it also educates the public about the animals.

Currently, the rescue center has about 130 to 140 rescues, ranging from tigers, lions, cougars and leopards to foxes and wolves.

The live Christmas trees, with all decorations and lights removed, can be taken to the Exotic Feline Rescue Center, 2221 E. Ashboro Road in Center Point in Clay County.

The center is open daily from 10 a.m. until 5 p.m., and the last tour goes out at 4 p.m.

If people bring the trees between 10 a.m. and 4 p.m., "You'll get a chance to see some cats," Taft said.

Philadelphia, Pa., and Baltimore, Md. One son has blessed this union, Alan Adair, a bright and promising child. In the social circles of Anderson, Mr. Dunlap and his accomplished wife occupy a position of prominence, and are welcome guests in the best homes of the county.

NATHAN M. SYMONS, who follows farming on section 28, Clay Township, Hamilton County, is a native of Wayne County, Ind., and was born in 1829. His grandfather, Matthew Symons, was born in North Carolina, and was of English descent. His father emigrated to the United States in Colonial days. In 1818, Thomas removed to Wayne County, Ind., where he entered eighty acres of Government land and followed farming throughout the remainder of his life. In religious belief he was a Hicksite Quaker. His children were Thomas, Matthew, Ann; Mary, wife of Nathan Charles; Sarah, wife of William Briggs; and Margaret, wife of John Manlove.

The parents of our subject, Thomas and Abigail (Wilson) Symons, were both natives of North Carolina. She was a daughter of Joseph Wilson, who was supposed to be of Scotch lineage. Eight children were born unto them, of whom one died in infancy. The others were Rebecca, who died in her sixteenth year; Henry; Mary, wife of Lorenzo Waddell; Milton, deceased; Nathan M.; Mahlon, deceased; and Samuel. The father came to Indiana in 1818, and in 1837 located in Henry County, where he owned one hundred and sixty acres of land. His death there occurred in 1839, but his wife survived him many years. They were members of the Friends' Church, and in politics he affiliated with the Whig party.

No event of special importance occurred during the childhood and youth of our subject, which were quietly passed upon the home farm. From his father's estate he received eighty acres of land, and, after he had attained his majority he turned his attention to its cultivation. For several years he worked by the month as a farm hand. The year 1850 witnessed his arrival in Hamilton County, at which time he located upon his eighty-acre farm. The boundaries of this property he has extended until it now comprises one hundred and seventy acres under a high state of cultivation. He has erected good buildings upon the place and made all the improvements of a model farm.

At the age of twenty-six, in Hamilton County, Mr. Symons was united in marriage with Miss Elizabeth C., daughter of Jonathan and Drusilla (Cox) Wilson. Three children graced their union: Alice D., who died at the age of eighteen; Lewis and Henry M. The sons now operate the farm for their father, who is practically living a retired life. He and his wife are faithful members and active workers in the Friends' Church. In politics he is a Republican, and has served as Township Trustee. He has led a busy and useful life, and his well directed efforts and fair dealings have brought him a handsome competence, which he well merits.

JAMES MORRIS, who owns and operates three hundred acres of land on section 1, White River Township, and is also extensively engaged in stock shipping, is a native of the Buckeye State. He was born in Ross County, December 16, 1830, and is a son of John and Sarah (Wyckoff) Morris. The father was born in Maryland, and at the age of twenty-three years left home, going on foot to Ohio, and working as a farm hand by the month until thirty years of age. He then married and rented land in Ross County, whence he removed to this county in 1849. In 1850, with the assistance of our subject, he bought a forty-acre farm, which he later sold, and purchased land near Arcadia, upon which he lived until his death, at the age of eighty-four. His wife was born in Ross County, and was a daughter of Samuel and Susan Wyckoff, natives of Virginia, who went to Ohio at a very early day. From the Government the father entered land, upon the farm which he there developed he and his wife spent their remaining days.

James Morris was one of eight children, of whom two sons and four daughters are yet living. The brother, Samuel, served in the late war as a member of the One Hundred and Thirtieth Indiana Infantry, and the maternal grandfather was one of the heroes of the Revolution, receiving for his services a land grant.

The subject of this sketch remained upon the home farm until nineteen years of age, and then went to western Indiana, where he worked as a farm hand for $7 per month. He was afterward employed in a sawmill. On the 30th of June, 1858, he celebrated his marriage with Miss Elizabeth Taylor, who was born in Ohio, and died in Indiana in 1857, leaving two children, Riley and Mary. In 1858, Mr. Morris wedded Miss Sarah Crusan, who was born in Rush County, Ind., and died in 1873. They had three children: Samuel, who is married and has one child; William A., a merchant of Strawtown; and Edward H., who is married and has one son. In 1874, Mr. Morris was a third time married, the lady of his choice being Susan Warnica, who was born in Strawtown, Hamilton County, and passed away in 1891, at the age of forty years. They also had three children: Dora D., Rosa A. and Charles J.

Mr. Morris manifested his loyalty to the Government during the late war by donning the blue in July, 1862, and joining Company D, One Hundred and First Indiana. After two years he was transferred to the Nineteenth Battery, with which he served until the close of the war, when he was honorably discharged in Louisville, June 21, 1865. He was wounded at Chickamauga. A faithful soldier, always found at his post, he proved one of the valiant defenders of the Stars and Stripes that now float over a united nation.

On returning home, Mr. Morris spent about two years on a farm two miles east of Cicero, and rented land until 1875. He then bought one hundred acres on which was a log house, but lived in Strawtown until 1880, when he removed to his farm. Its boundaries have been extended until it now comprises three hundred acres of valuable land, which has been made to bloom and blossom as the rose. In connection with general farming, he also makes a specialty of shipping stock. In politics he was a Republican until 1873, since which time he has voted the Democratic ticket. He is numbered among the charter members of Cicero Post No. 207, G. A. R. Although quiet and unassuming in manner, he has nevertheless won the highest regard of all with whom he has come in contact, and no man in the community has more friends than James Morris.

ISAAC J. W. LEE. The subject of this biographical notice is an honorable and progressive farmer and stock-dealer, and as such no name in the memorial department of this work is more worthy of mention. Mr. Lee was born in Davie County, N. C., June 7, 1830, a son of Hillier and Elsie (Garner) Lee, also natives of the old North State. They came to Rush County, Ind., with their children in 1832, at which time their sole possessions were a team and wagon, together with the sum of thirty-seven cents in money. After remaining in Rush County four years, they came to Madison County, but during their stay in the former county they had saved enough money to enable them to purchase forty acres of land, which is now a part of the farm owned and occupied by the subject of this sketch. It was at that time covered by an unbroken forest, through which Mr. Lee had to cut a road by felling trees and clearing away the heavy, entangled undergrowth to the place where he desired to erect his cabin. After several years of laborious toil, and after enduring many hardships and the privations incident to pioneer life, he succeeded in clearing his land and in developing a rich and productive farm. He was very active in the affairs of his section in early days, and was one of the pioneers who laid the foundations for the magnificent commonwealth which Indiana is to-day. For many years he held the position of Supervisor and Assessor, and was a respected and influential citizen is honored alike by friend and foe, although the latter, if any, were few and far between. He ed over by the lady with whom he was united marriage April 26, 1883, and who was formerly ma Lawrence, of El Dorado, Ohio.

WILLIAM C. MORRIS, a native of Indiana, a son and grandson of pioneer settlers of the state, is a man of fine business ability, dely known and highly respected. He now con- s a well improved farm of two hundred and ty acres in Washington Township, Hamilton nty. His parents, John and Mary (Miller) rris, were both natives of Kentucky, and the ternal grandfather was born in Virginia. Great- ndfather Morris, an energetic and enterprising ilman, emigrated when a young man to rginia, and located in the Old Dominion in a y early day. The grandfather, William Morris, rried Miss Pollie Beecham, who became the ther of seven children, all of whom lived to old John, the father of our subject, was the then followed, William, Jessie, Jackson, , Nancy, Hattie.

The grandfather, removing from the south to na, entered two hundred and forty acres in County, where part of the town of Rush- now stands. He was an extensive property , holding over three thousand acres of in Indiana and Illinois. Two years after grandfather settled permanently in Rush ty, the father also came to Indiana, and ght two hundred and forty acres near Rush- After a time the grandfather moved with- y distance of Terre Haute, and passed away Paris, Ill., aged about seventy-five years. A of business sagacity and executive ability, he quired great wealth and was respected for qualities of head and heart. The grandmother, genuine pioneer woman, lived to reach eighty- years, and died near Rushville, beloved by all knew her.

The father continued to make his residence in County until his death. He had only very book knowledge, but, a self-made man of ent judgment and a keen calculator, accu- mulated a large fortune and owned more than five hundred valuable acres of land near Rushville. He was a prominent member of the Methodist Episcopal Church and was numbered among the influential men of the county. The father lived to participate in the progressive interests of the state and witnessed the remarkable changes wrought by a half century of upward growth, entering into rest in 1881, at the advanced age of eighty-four. The mother, well educated, and a devout member of the Methodist Episcopal Church, ever since its establishment in Rush County, died, strong in the faith of happiness beyond, in the year 1865, aged sixty-two.

Mrs. Pollie (Miller) Morris was the devoted mother of nine children. The sons and daughters who clustered about the family hearth were, Henry M., Mary A., Alfred T., Ellen E., Malissa J., William C. (our subject), James H., John F. and Oliver S. Mr. Morris was born June 21, 1831, in Rush County, and worked for his father until he reached his majority. He then married and began life for himself. His excellent wife, Rebecca E. McMillen, was the daughter of John and Mary A. (Jennings) McMillen, both natives of Kentucky. The McMillens were of Irish ancestry, the Jennings of English descent. The pleasant home of Mr. and Mrs. Morris was blessed by the birth of seven children, one of whom died in infancy. The six surviving are, Claudius E., John C., Florence A., May B., Oscar and Ida. These sons and daughters are all married and prospering, occupying positions of usefulness, and respected by all who know them.

Our subject immediately after his marriage bought one hundred and sixty acres of good land near Rushville and farmed thereon for a number of years, but in 1883 sold out his interests in that locality and removed to Washington Township, and purchased the two hundred and forty well improved acres of valuble land where he now resides, beyond all doubt one of the best grain and stock farms in the county. Mr. Morris received only limited advantages for an education, but possesses the family inheritance of excellent judgment and business ability and is successful in his various undertakings, making money rapidly. He and his wife are members of the Methodist Episcopal Church and liberal givers towards its support. In political affiliation a Democrat, he is in every respect a public spirited citizen and fully commands the esteem of the entire community among whom he lives and transacts business in a straightforward and upright manner.

The family to which Mrs. Morris belongs is a noted one, from the fact of the immense inheritance awaiting the heirs in England. Her great-grandfather, Robert Jennings, was a native of London and a close connection of the Jenningses from whom the large estate was received in trust. Kane Jennings, the grandfather of Mrs. Morris, was a native of Virginia and a man of worth and ability.

MAHLON C. HAWORTH, M. D., an able practitioner and skillful surgeon engaged in an extended round of professional duties in Noblesville, Ind., is a native of Hamilton County, and, born June 27, 1851, has from his early youth been associated with the progressive interests of this part of the state. The father of our subject, George L. Haworth, was a native of Ohio, but early locating in the state of Indiana, became one of the pioneers of Hamilton County, settling within its borders in 1834, when the country round about was a comparative wilderness. Wild game was abundant, and neighbors were few and far between. He entered with courage and enterprise into the development of a farm and reclaimed from its wild condition a valuable homestead.

In 1892, after a life of usefulness, the father, respected by all who knew him, entered into rest. He was a man of more than ordinary ability and strength of character and was well fitted to endure the privations and sacrifices of pioneer life. His father, Jonathan Haworth, born in Virginia, was numbered among the very early settlers of Ohio, where he occupied a leading position and was known as a man of broad intelligence. The ancestors of the Haworth family were of English nativity, the founder of the American branch emigrating to America with William Penn, [illegible] whom he was associated in religious [illegible] both being Quakers. The mother of our subject, Ann Haworth, was born in Ohio. Sharing with her husband and children the pioneer experiences of Indiana, she passed away in Hamilton County, universally mourned.

Our subject was the youngest of the five children who blessed the home of the parents, [illegible] spending the days of boyhood upon the old farm, received the benefit of instruction in the district schools. Assisting his father during the summer months, he at seventeen years of age began teaching school, and, self-reliantly winning his upward way, attained his majority, then entering Earlham College, at Richmond, Ind., where he pursued his studies for three succeeding years. At the expiration of this length of time, he decided to enter the medical profession, and in the winter of 1874 took a course of lectures at the Medical College of Indiana, located at Indianapolis, and the following year, graduating with honor, received the diploma and degree of M. D.

Dr. Haworth, at once establishing himself in Noblesville, and from the first meeting with encouraging success, has for sixteen years been identified with the social and business interests of the city and has but little time for rest or recreation, being constantly occupied with the demands of a large and lucrative practice extending out into the surrounding country. Our subject, taking a leading position in the professional ranks, is a valued member of the County Medical Society and is also connected with the State Medical Society and the American Medical Association. He is identified with Bernice Lodge No. [illegible] K. of P. and has many warm friends in the order. Dr. Haworth is politically a stalwart Republican and takes an active interest in both local and national issues, being a public-spirited citizen and liberal aid in matters of local enterprise and improvements.

May 15, 1878, Dr. Mahlon C. Haworth and Miss Celestia Dewey, were united in marriage, receiving the hearty best wishes and congratulations of numerous friends. The accomplished

Hancock County, Ind. In 1855 he went to Hardin County, Iowa, where he lived until the spring of 1862. In 1866 he took up his residence upon the farm which is still his home, and has since devoted his energies to the cultivation of his fifty acres of land. He proved a true and loyal citizen during the late war, and in August, 1862, joined the boys of Company F, Thirty-second Iowa Infantry, participating in the battles of Cape Girardeau, Little Rock, Pleasant Hill, Tupelo, Nashville, Spanish Fort, Ft. Blakely and others. He participated altogether in eighteen engagements, and was honorably discharged at Clinton, Iowa, in August, 1865, after three years of faithful and valiant service, during which time he was always found at his post, defending the Old Flag that now floats triumphantly over the united nation. When he entered the army he was a Democrat, but during the service his political views changed, and he has since been a Republican. He was formerly a member of the Christian Church, but himself and wife now hold membership with the Methodist Episcopal Church. His career has been an honorable and upright one, and is well worthy of emulation.

ALFRED W. MORRIS. The mercantile interests of Madison County have a worthy representative in the subject of this sketch, who for a number of years has prosperously conducted a general store in the village of Moonsville. Through the uniform reliability of his dealings and his unfailing courtesy, he has gained the confidence of the people of the surrounding country who invariably in making purchases patronize his establishment. He carries a stock valued at about $800, and his sales aggregate an annual average of $4,000. His store is 20x18 feet in dimensions and is supplied with a large and well assorted stock of dry goods and groceries.

A native of North Carolina, our subject was born on the 22d of January, 1836, and is the son of McCristy and Susan (Lane) Morris. He passed the years of his boyhood and youth in the state of his birth, and received a practical education in the schools of the home neighborhood. At the age of seventeen he left North Carolina, and coming to Indiana resided for a period of about five years in this state, being at different times in various counties. Then returning to North Carolina, he made his home in that state during the entire period of the Civil War, being a witness of the destruction and horrors of that conflict, although not an active participant therein.

The lady who became the wife of our subject in 1859, in North Carolina, bore the maiden name of Nancy White, and their union resulted in the birth of eight children, three of whom are now living: Alfred; Gabrillia, who is the wife of Elijah Reeves; and Ferdinand. The present wife of our subject, who is a lady of most estimable character and noble disposition, was formerly Miss Sarah Hitt, and their union has been blessed by the birth of one child, a daughter, Leola.

During the year 1865 Mr. Morris came to Indiana, and for a short time sojourned in Henry County. From there he came to Madison County and made his home here for about three years. Later he resided for three years in Delaware County, and subsequently located in Hamilton County, where he remained until 1885, the date of his location in Moonsville. At once after settling here he embarked in the mercantile business, in which he has since been engaged. He is a man who gives his assistance and co-operation to every important enterprise. He adheres to the principles of the Republican party, of which he is a prominent member. He is numbered among the representative merchants and aggressive citizens of Richland Township, and possesses the confidence of the business community.

JULIUS L. BENSON, M. D., one of the oldest medical practitioners of Hamilton County, now resides in Noblesville Township. A native of North Carolina, he was born in Guilford County on the 27th of June, 1818, and is a son of Robert and Mary (Lane) Benson, both of whom were also born in Guilford County, the former in 1792, and the latter in 1793.

Lewis Creek Baptist Church

Lewis Creek Baptist Church website

The Lewis Creek Baptist Church
(By Effie Connor, circa 1910)

September 23 1833, the brethren met at the residence of William Morris and held a meeting looking for the formation of a Baptist church. Daniel Stogdell acted as moderator and William E Eaton as clerk. Those of this church faith present were: Daniel Stogsdell, J. Long, Phillip Stark, P. Whitlow, David James Clark, James Grisham, James Robertson, Alexander Robertson, John Bush, William Bush, William Wickliff, John Ressen and others from near by places in Shelby County. These represented Baptist from Shelbyville, Blue River, Mt Morish, and other points. The articles of faith of the Flatrock Church were at hand and adopted. It was agreed that the name of the church to be formed should be called the "Baptist Church of Christ, at Lewis Creek." The charter members were Polly Stafford, Simeon Stafford, Nancy Stafford, William Morris, Martha Morris, David Hendrick, Matilda Hendrick, Polly Morris, Neal McCann, Louisa McCann. The record says that "Brother Stogsdell preached a sermon on the occasion from – "Honor all men, love the brotherhood, fear God, Honor the King." This record is signed by William G Eaton clerk, William Stogsdell moderator.

This is the substance of the first recorded minutes of the church. The place where this church was formed was at the Morris home and is now known as the Tony Minster farm. Rev Eaton was engaged as pastor November 1833, for one year. William and Jesse Morris were chosen deacons.

On the first Saturday in February 1834, it was the time for a business meeting and it was decided to have a foot washing. Again the minutes show that in November of the same year they attended another foot washing. Nothing later appears regarding the subject of foot washing. William Moore served the church twenty-three years as moderator. He preformed all of his labors free and it is said that he was easily offended if anyone tendered him pay. He was always called "old Uncle Billy". In December 1836, it was thought necessary to secure someone to "set tunes" for singing at public worship and Buckner Caudell was chosen. In February 1837 trustees viewed grounds upon which to erect a church edifice. George Fisher about that date donated land for this use; the material was also donated and a church was erected; it was about twenty by twenty-four and faced the west and it had one window of one sash in the south and one in the east. The seats were slabs hewn out by the membership. They had no way of heating the church so they met in the building in the summertime and at private houses in the wintertime. Not withstanding the rude edifice, these devoted people enjoyed their new quarters and sang praises unto the Lord and were thankful, possibly more so than church-goers of today.

They went to church either on foot or on horseback, clad in homespun garb, including homemade shoes and sometimes in warm weather bare-footed. The singing books being scarce, the preacher having the only one, he would read two lines, then the congregation would sing them. This was followed up until they had finished the entire hymn. In 1841, the pastor with several other visiting ministers, including Rev. Reese and Curtis held special services and a number united with the church, including Allen Sexton, still living at the ripe old age of ninety-one years. The pastor was Rev. Stogsdell, and at the close and at the close of the meetings, Rev. Barnes arose and stated that he was not going to scare them by taking up a collection but that he wished them to accompany him to the outside and examine the dilapidated saddle of brother Stogsdell, after which if they felt that they could give anything to come in and lay it on the table. They would not pass the hat around because they thought that was too much like the Methodists. They examined the saddle and found it worn and he soon received a new one. Remember they did not believe in paying a preacher and some even objected greatly at this expenditure, which was the first they had tendered the pastor. At one time this same pastor was a member at Clifty, but was excluded on account of preaching temperance, missions and advocated Sunday schools. He then organized a Mission church on his own account there. In 1842 the congregation wishing to be more modern agreed to ceil the church building. The work was performed by the members as was also the chinking and re-daubing in the log walls. They agreed to purchase a stove and sent Gideon Stafford to Lawrenceburg to get it, but there he found none on sale, so he bought a second hand one, which he brought back with him. But they had troubles of their own and even in that remote day "Sunday Head-aches" were frequent, but committees were sent out after them and if they could not send a reasonable excuse they were excommunicated. What a busy time the present day church committee would have at trying this plan. Sometime in the fifties the old church was abandoned for a frame building that stood just to the south of the present church.

Silas Gore, the only bidder, got the contract to erect this church. It was thirty-six by forty feet, and many objected on account of it being too large. In 1838 it was ordained that each male members pay twenty-five cents toward the running expenses of the church and Allen Sexton was made treasurer and served forty years.

In 1859 the church released Rev Moore as pastor and called John Reese for one year, agreeing to pay him one hundred dollars. He served this church until 1868, when James Young was called, but soon resigned and was succeeded by Rev. Clifty, who in 1870 was followed by John Reese again and he continued until 1884, making twenty-two years of service.

The present church edifice was build in 1882-83 at a cost of two thousand three hundred and six dollars. In October 1884, W.W. Smith was chosen pastor and continued three years and was followed by G. H. Elgin, who died while pastor. Since then the pastors have been – Revs. Perry Markland, McGregor, Harper, Coulter, Hucklesberry, Ederson, Jayne and Odell and the present pastor, W. T. Markland. Sixteen pastors have serviced: six hundred and seven members have been taken into the church the present membership being two hundred and fifteen. The seventy-fifth anniversary has recently been celebrated. The society has accomplished much good in the passing decades and is doing work today.

West Eighth Street: A history museum for modern-day drivers

In the first third of the 19th century when pioneers were settling Madison County, there were no roads, in the modern sense of the term.

Footpaths connected the many Delaware Indian villages strung along the Wapihanne (White River). For Native Americans, taking a canoe for a float down to Wapiminskink ("chestnut tree place," Andersontown) would have been common, also.

But the vast majority of settlers weren't going on a day-trip; they were changing their lives. They were transporting every portable item they owned in ox-drawn wagons and traveling in large groups of families and friends.

They needed defined overland routes and, to that end, pioneers had few options to enter east central Indiana's forested wilderness.

One of these routes was the Conner Trail, part of which Madison County has now labeled West 8th Street Road.

Along the Conner Trail

Many of Madison County's early settlers were from southern Ohio, eastern Kentucky and Tennessee, Virginia, and North Carolina. After rafting down the Ohio River or traversing Daniel Boone's Wilderness Trail, settlers from the southeast would have connected to the Conner Trail.

As explained in an earlier article by Madison County Historian Stephen T. Jackson, the trail was originally an ancient Indian footpath developed by the Conner brothers as a trade route. It started at Cincinnati, wound overland northwest to the Conner brothers' trading post located on the Whitewater River in Franklin County, found its way to Connersville, and then pointed through the wilderness towards New Castle.

Just north of that settlement, the trail divided, the west branch striking out for Andersontown. From that point, our part of the Conner Trail followed White River until it reached another Conner trading center south of Noblesville, the site of present day Conner Prairie Farm, a living history museum.

Because the Madison County section of the Conner Trail followed the southern edge of the river, the route was initially referred to by local settlers as South Bank Road or River Road.

It is hard to estimate how many hundreds of first families in the early 1800s traveled the road as they moved into present-day Madison County and areas further west in the New Purchase. Today, we know the route as West 8th Street Road.

Strawtown Trace

When the county part of the trail got wider and acquired ax marks in the bordering trees to more clearly define the route, it was referred to as the Strawtown Trace.

The slashes in the trees traced the land route to the next hamlet. When the trace was given a road bed or foundation and later covered with gravel — high technology for the late 1800s — the trace was labeled the Anderson-Perkinsville Pike.

As settlements expanded and smoothing, straightening, and paving became the practices in the 20th century, the footpath once used by Native Americans and our ancestors was renamed West 8th Street Road.

That western section of the old trade route still mirrors the river and undulates with the topography of the land just as it did with the pioneers.

The land on either side of the road was some of the first in the county to be settled, and evidence of that early history can be found today.

The western section is laced with early homesteads, hopeful villages, and more historic cemeteries than any other trail/trace/pike/road in the county.

Some of the route's homesteads are still owned by descendants and display an Indiana heritage sign spotlighting their legacy.

A fine example is the Daniel Wise 1829 two-story brick home at the route's junction with County Road 800 West.

The settlement, started in 1836, once labeled Hamilton and later Halford, is still indicated by the houses and buildings clustered just east of the route's intersection with County Road 600 West and on the county's western border, Perkinsville, platted in 1837, continues to assert its existence.

Five cemeteries

Less visible, perhaps, but more personal are the five pioneer and settlers' cemeteries lining the route. These old burial grounds cradle the remains of the intrepid early settlers who travelled the trace, built a home, worked the new land, put down their own roots, and forged our community.

West of Park Road, just before West 8th Street turns sharply north is the Moss Cemetery, named for the John Moss family who owned the land in the late 1830s.

The Moss family also gave their name to a nearby island in the river and subsequently to the large mill — so important in 19th century life — once on the opposite bank of the river.

Traveling just inside Jackson Township, the Cather Cemetery sits on a steep, cleared hill to the south.

The first burial here, 1837, was for 19-year-old Jasper Cather who drowned in White River while attempting to help a fisherman just months after the family arrived. The Cather ancestors were from Scotland, and those members buried here are related to 20th century Pulitzer Prize winning author Willa Cather.

Further west is the Epperly Cemetery which holds a man whose life illustrates what many of our early settlers endured.

Joel White came to the Connersville area around 1813 as one of the first settlers in that region. He was originally from North Carolina, had traveled through Tennessee and Kentucky, and spent some time at the fort at Cincinnati. After the New Purchase opened in 1818, he decided to move his family west of Andersontown and homestead the land south of White River.

Joel died March 21, 1845, at 71 years of age, making his birth date around 1774, before America's Revolutionary War.

Continuing along West 8th Street Road, the Cunningham Cemetery on the north side near County Road 650 West, holds members of the Ashby and Coy first families as well as the Cunninghams. George and Catherine Cunningham purchased land between the road and White River as early as 1822. The old graveyard now sits inside private property, the present owner of which, out of respect, dutifully maintains the early settlers' resting place.

Finally, the Perkinsville Cemetery, on one of the highest hills bordering the river, safeguards one of the largest and best kept of any of our pioneer burial grounds. It contains, in fact, the oldest, legible, intact gravestone in the entire county: "Mary, wife of Alexander McClintick, died Aug. 12, 1821, 43y 7m 11d."

Instead of a history museum with living re-creators, West 8th Street Road is in its own category: it's a history museum for the modern-day driver.

while he attended the A. Johnson Dodge School of Embalming at Indianapolis, securing a diploma in July, 1905. Since that date he has given his active personal attention to the business. In 1909 he sold the stock of furniture and for the past twenty years has conducted an exclusive undertaking business. In 1919 he built a funeral home, one of the most complete in appointments and service found in any small town in Indiana. Mr. Thornburg is also a director of the Farmland State Bank. He is a member of the Indiana and National Funeral Directors Associations. Since 1917 he has had associated with him in the business Miss Ina M. Brewer, who is a licensed embalmer and has charge of the infants' and children's burials and is office manager.

Mr. Thornburg married, in the spring of 1896, Miss Maggie Holder, who was born in Wayne County, Indiana, daughter of Henry and Catherine (Maine) Holder. Her father came from Pennsylvania, while her mother was born in Henry County, Indiana. Of the children born to Mr. and Mrs. Thornburg, Irene died in infancy and Roger at the age of six years; Marguerite is the wife of Ernest Whitehead, of Monroe Township; Deloris is in business at Farmland; Glenn and Ralph are both at home. The family are members of the Friends Church and Mr. Thornburg is a trustee and overseer. He has served on the town council at Farmland and on the school board, and has been chairman of the Chamber of Commerce. Politically he votes and thinks as a Republican, is a member of the Masonic fraternity and the Modern Woodmen of America.

WILLIAM E. MORRIS. The confidence reposed in the Union County National Bank by thousands of depositors rests upon a sound basis —able directors; capable officers; well-trained, loyal employes; modern methods and equipment; the mature experience of sixty years of sound banking at Liberty. Decades of progress have proved not only this bank's strength and stability, but also its capacity for furthering the interests of its depositors. Business men who have arrived and those on the way find this bank a congenial connection, and its president, William E. Morris, with his associates are wise counsellors and financial advisors to the people of this community.

William E. Morris was born at Liberty, Indiana, October 14, 1865, a son of Dr. James E. and Sarah Maria (Earl) Morris, he born at Dover, Maryland, and she at Granville, New York. The paternal grandparents were William and Priscilla (La Compte) Morris, natives of Dover, Delaware. They moved to Bellbrook, Ohio, after their marriage, and became farming people. Dr. James E. Morris worked his way through Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, and was graduated in 1852, having as his classmates Whitelaw Reid and Benjamin Harrison, the former later a towering figure in Republican politics, and the latter President of the United States. Subsequently Doctor Morris was graduated from the Medical College at Starling, Ohio, and from Bellevue College, New York City. In 1858 he located at Liberty, and here he continued in practice the remainder of his life. In 1872 he organized a private bank, the Union County Bank, but two years later it was nationalized under the present name of the Union County National Bank. Before taking his medical course, in 1852, he traveled in Colorado with a party, and visited Denver, then composed of seven log cabins, and climbed Pike's Peak. The maternal grandparents of William E. Morris were Joseph and Mary (Brownell) Earl, and they never lived in Liberty, his ministerial duties as a Baptist preacher confining him to the East. For a long period he held a charge at Whitehall, New York, where he died. His daughter came to Liberty as a public school teacher, and here she met and later married Doctor Morris. Both Doctor and Mrs. Morris are now deceased, he having passed away in 1913, at which time he was still president of the bank. Thomas LaCompte was born in Maryland, in 1796, and died in that state. He was the maternal grandfather of Doctor Morris.

The only child of his parents, William E. Morris was carefully reared, and he attended a private school with Doctor Bishop, and later the Miami University at Oxford, Ohio, from which he was graduated in 1889, and returned to Liberty.

In that same year, 1889, William E. Morris was married to Miss Anna May Evans, who was born at Franklin, Ohio, a daughter of William and Anna (Schenk) Evans, natives of Franklin. After their marriage Mr. and Mrs. Morris lived at Liberty for three years and then moved to Brookston, White County, Indiana, to develop 640 acres of wild land, and while doing that Mr. Morris, with John C. Van Natta, organized the State Bank of Brookston, of which he continued president. Following his mother's death he and Mrs. Morris returned to Liberty to look after his father, and when the latter died Mr. Morris was made president of the Union County National Bank. He sold his banking interests at Brookston, but still retains the farm. Mrs. Morris died in May, 1923, having borne her husband the following children: Catherine Earl, who married Stephen W. Jones, born at Madisonville, Ohio, a son of Judge Oliver B. Jones, and they are residents of Cincinnati, Ohio, where Mr. Jones is a practicing attorney; and Ruth, who is a noted violinist and is a member of the faculty of Shorter College, Rome, Georgia. Mr. Morris is an independent Republican. A high Mason, he belongs to the Blue Lodge of Liberty, the Consistory and Shrine of Indianapolis and the Commandery of La Fayette. He is a member of the Cincinnati Club, and an ex-member of the La Fayette Club.

Mr. Morris is an example of the type of banker who particularly deserves success because he persistently uses his position of power for safeguarding the interests of the commun-

During the World war he was in the Motor Transport Corps and was in training at Warsaw, Indiana, until the armistice. Mary C. Lennington is the wife of F. B. The two youngest children of Mr. and Mrs. Lennington are Joseph B., connected with the Muncie Products Company, and Miss Dainty L., a graduate of the Yorktown High School, now attending Indiana University.

The junior partners of Mr. Lennington in his law office are his sons Paul A. and Jacob N. Paul A. Lennington attended the grade and high schools of Yorktown, graduating from high school in 1924 and received the LL. B. degree at the Benjamin Harrison Law School in 1926. LAWRENCE A. HANDLEY, formerly the popular and progressive mayor of the fine old City of Richmond, judicial center of Wayne County, has here maintained his home since his boyhood, has here marked the passing years with worthy achievement, and here his is an inviolable place in communal confidence and esteem, his circle of friends being virtually coincident with that of his acquaintances.

Mr. Handley was born in Union County, Indiana, December 1, 1868, and is a son of Evan J. and Margaret J. (Henry) Handley, the former of whom was born in Henry County, Indiana, and the latter in Butler County, Ohio. Evan J. Handley was a son of George and Isabella (Jones) Handley, who were born in that part of Virginia that is now Greenbrier County, West Virginia, and the paternal grandfather of George Handley came from his native Ireland and settled in Virginia prior to the War of the Revolution, he having been one of the pioneers of what is now Greenbrier County, West Virginia.

After his marriage Evan J. Handley settled at College Corner, Union County, Indiana, where he was identified with the operation of grist and saw mills. When the Civil war was precipitated he went forth as a loyal and valiant soldier of the Union, he having been a member of Company K, Second Ohio Heavy Artillery. In later years he perpetuated his association with his former comrades by maintaining affiliation with the Grand Army of the Republic. In the early '80s he removed with his family to Richmond, and in this city he was a stationary engineer during the remainder of his active life, his death having occurred in 1903 and his widow having since resided here in the home of one of her sons, she having been born December 31, 1831.

The rudimentary education of Lawrence A. Handley was acquired in the public schools of Union County, and he was thirteen years of age at the time of the family removal to Richmond. Here he continued to attend school until he was fifteen years of age, when he entered upon an apprenticeship to the printer's trade, which trade he continued to follow ten years—a discipline that has well been termed the equivalent of a liberal education. He was one of those who took the first civil-service examination ever held in Richmond, and after successfully passing that examination he was appointed a city letter carrier, a position that he retained fourteen years. He was then appointed superintendent of mails at the Richmond postoffice, and he retained this executive office seven years. Upon retiring from this service Mr. Handley was elected cashier of the American Trust & Savings Bank of Richmond, and soon after the nation entered the World war he was made examiner in charge of the local service of the Government bureau of labor, a position that he retained until January, 1919, when he resigned. He then engaged in the real estate and insurance business, but he sold the same when he was elected mayor of Richmond, in 1921. He gave a characteristically loyal and effective administration during his original term of four years, and the popular estimate placed on his ordering of municipal affairs was shown in his reelection in 1925, his term expiring January 6, 1931. He had previously served one term as a member of the city board of aldermen and one term as a member of the board of education. Mayor Handley is a stalwart in the ranks of the Democratic party, and his personal popularity rolled up for him substantial majorities each time he was elected mayor, though other candidates on the Democratic ticket were defeated.

Mr. Handley is a past master of Webb Lodge No. 24, Ancient Free and Accepted Masons, and in addition to being secretary of Whitewater Lodge of the Independent Order of Odd Fellows he is also a trustee and grand

Re: Hainey Family, KY

Lillian,

The following is a word for word copy of the newspaper clipping that I was referring to concerning the famous Hainey rifle. This clipping was discovered by an aunt, my father's late sister-in-law, while she was doing some family history several years ago.

HAS RELIC OF 2 WARS

Columbia, Mo. The State Historical Society of Missouri has on display here a 59" muzzle loading rifle used in the battle of Bunker Hill in 1775 and in the battle of New Orleans in 1815. The relic of the two wars was presented by P.J. Hainey of Bethany, Mo.

The rifle was first owned by James Hainey, Hainey's great-grandfather, who used it in the battle of Bunker Hill. He, with his horse and gun, was captured by the British when attempting to retreat, and was held a prisoner for some time and later exchanged.

After the Revolutionary War Mr. Hainey gave the gun to his son, who immigrated to Kentucky when that region was first opened up for settlement by the government. In the war of 1812 the son joined the army and fought with the gun at the battle of New Orleans. He belonged to the company known as the "Hunters of Kentucky".

Hope this is some information that my be useful to you.

Roland L. Hainey

JOHN HAINEY/HANEY, DIED CHARLOTTE CO., VA, 1794

Posted by: Michael Motes (ID 3725) Date: August 15, 2002 at 11:15:15

58 of 108 Go

John Hainey/Hayney/Haney, whose will was probated in Charlotte Co., VA, in 1794, naming only his son Isaac and wife Elizabeth, married first an unknown daughter of George Foster, who died at an advanced age in Charlotte Co., VA, in 1789.

In 1753, George Foster of Lunenburg (later Charlotte) County, VA, deeded to his granddaughter Elizabeth Haney 100 acres of land. Her father John Haney, identified in the deed as the son-in-law of George Foster, was to maintain a life interest in the property.

John Haney's daughter Elizabeth married Nathaniel Dabbs and in 1792, as residents of Anson County, NC, they sold Elizabeth's interest in the land to Philip King. The transaction was handed by nephews of Nathaniel Dabbs still residing in Charlotte County, VA. The 1792 deed identifies Elizabeth Dabbs as the former Elizabeth Haney, daughter of John Haney and granddaughter of George Foster.

I am attempting to find the ancestry of John Haney. Does anyone know the names of the parents of John Haney who died in Charlotte County, VA, in 1794?

I have put together a purely theoretical account of the names of John Haney's children and will be happy to send a copy of this to anyone else working on this line. I will stress that most of the material in this theoretical account is undocumented and needs to be treated as such. Anyone wishing a copy of this should email me direct: Newgate2000@aol.com.

JOHN HARNEY/HARNEY, BIRD CHARLOTTE CO., VA, 1794

Posted by: Michael Mann (ID 1758) Date: August 15, 2002 at 11:13:15

Msg

John Harney/Harney, Byrd, wife Mary Ann Mann, Charlotte Co., VA, 1794, moving only his son Isaac and wife Elizabeth, married first an unknown daughter of George Foster, who died in or around age in Charlotte Co., VA, in 1810.

In 1753, George Foster of Lunenburg (later Charlotte) County, VA, deeded to his grandson-in-law Elizabeth Harney, 100 acres of land, the latter John Harney, identified in the deed as the son-in-law of George Foster, who is mentioned in the deed as the previous.

John Harney's daughter Elizabeth married Nathaniel Dabbs and in 1782, as residents of Anson County, NC, they sold Elizabeth's share in the land to Philip King. The transaction was handled by separate of Nathaniel Dabbs and residing in Charlotte County, VA. The 1782 deed identifies Elizabeth Dabbs as the former Elizabeth Harney, daughter of John Harney and granddaughter of George Foster.

I am attempting to find the ancestry of John Harney. Does anyone know the names of the parents of John Harney, who died in Charlotte County, VA, in 1794?

I have put together a plausible theoretical account of the events of John Harney's existence and will be happy to send a copy of this to anyone who writes on this line. I will assure that none of the material in this theoretical account is undocumented and needs to be treated as such. Any one wishing a copy of this should send me direct. Mannjm2000@aol.com
